HITLER CLAIMS VICTORY AT KIEV UNPARALLELED IN HISTORY

SUCCESSES IN DRIVE ON CENTRAL FRONT REPORTED BY SOVIETS

By the Associated Press

The German high command today announced conclusion of the battle of encirclement east of Kiev, with destruction of five entire Soviet armies and capture of 665,000 prisoners.

But the Russians claimed new successes everywhere else along the front and the British strongly intimated they might rush troops to the defense of the Caucasus.

Adolf Hitler's headquarters, claiming a victory "which is unparalleled in world history," reported seizure or destruction of 3,718 Russian cannon, 885 tanks and great quantities of other war equipment.

"The exploitation of these successes is in full swing," a communique stated.

Informed Germans also said the source of the Volga river in the north, near Seliger Lake, had been in Nazi hands for several days.

A Soviet communique, on the other hand, announced Red army successes in a sustained drive on the central front—north of the Kiev area—and repulse of a strong German attack on Leningrad.

Defenders of the Crimean peninsula, which is the key to full control of the Black Sea, were declared to have cut down thousands of German soldiers seeking to storm the approaches to that stronghold.

While the British reported continued overnight air raids against Cologne and other German cities despite bad weather, the empire appeared to be shaping up a major move to hasten troops from India and the Near East through Iran for the defense of Russia's vital and oil-wealthy Caucasus region.

Observers in London pointed to a number of signs indicating such a British step and stressed that speed was imperative since the Germans are hammering at the Crimea, almost at the door of the Caucasus.

Reports from Russia said the Crimea's defenders were mowing down thousands of Germans at the approaches to that peninsular Soviet republic.

But while the British were talking of more help to Russia, Lieut.-Ben. A. G. McNaughton looked into the future and declared it would be necessary to invade the continent to beat Germany.

He said he did not think that a "proud and well-organized nation" could be brought to her knees "with missiles alone," but he did not predict when a British invasion attempt might be made.

The British meanwhile strengthened their position in Turkey, announcing that a British firm would build dock facilities of considerable military significance at the Turkish port of Alexandretta. Following British consignment of some American-made planes to Turkey, observers regarded this as a further indication that Turkey would not yield to Axis overtures.

Continuing trouble for Germany in occupied countries of Europe was disclosed with announcement in the Brussels press that 20 "communists" hostages of unstated nationality had been executed yesterday, supposedly for theft of explosives which were used to attack trains.

Italy, southern end of the Axis, tightened the national belt with an order for bread rationing effective Oct. 1 because of a short grain crop.

JOINT DEFENSE OF CAUCASUS IS PLAN INDICATED

Signs That Britain Proposes To Send Troops From India and Middle East to Aid Russia Becomes Increasingly Evident

CRIMEA IS POUNDED

London, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Signs that Britain plans to send troops from India and the Middle East to aid Russia in defending the all-important Caucasus became increasingly evident today as the German war machine fought almost at the door of that oil-rich area.

The need for speedy British help was stressed by the German attack on the Crimea, but the British kept the Axis guessing as to what actual forces and material might be sent through the new Iran door into the Caucasus.

Four German divisions and Nazi parachute troops were reported pounding at the Crimea in a furious battle, and informed sources said capture of that finger of Russian land would give the Germans partial command of the Black Sea, making a sea invasion of the Caucasus a possibility.

General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander in India, was reported about to meet Col. T. Novikov, Russian commander in Teheran, the Iranian capital.

Both General Wavell and General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, British Middle East commander,

BREAD RATIONING IN ITALY STARTS OCT. 1

Rome, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Italian government announced today that bread would be rationed, starting Oct. 1, after Premier Mussolini reported to the cabinet that 1941 grain production is insufficient for the country's needs.

The basic daily ration was fixed at 200 grams or about six and one-half ounces, with ordinary workers allowed 300 grams or about 10 ounces and workers at heavy tasks 400 grams or about 13 ounces.

TAVERN OWNER SLAIN BY YEGGS

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—Police questioned three men and sought two more today in a hunt for two gunmen who killed John Thiel, 35, during an attempted robbery at his west end cafe.

The bandits drank beer in the tavern for 20 minutes before the holdup attempt yesterday. Then one of them pointed a gun at Thiel's wife, Rose, and demanded the $1,300 in the cash register.

ATTACK ON TWO ELDERLY WOMEN IS FATAL TO ONE

Robbery is Believed to Have Been Motive of Mysterious Assault on Sisters at Media as Unknown Assailant is Sought

WEAPONS ARE FOUND

Media, Pa., Sept. 27—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, elder of two sisters brutally beaten near their home on the outskirts of Media Wednesday night, died early today in Chester Hospital while authorities questioned a suspect arrested five hours earlier.

Mrs. Watson, who was 83, never regained consciousness. Her sister, Miss Belle Geary, 80, who is still in a serious condition at the hospital, late yesterday gave detectives a description of their assailant.

Fred Jack, chief of detectives, said the suspect "has admitted nothing that even remotely connects him with the crime."

Haltingly, Belle Geary, 80, told Detective Chief Fred Jack a "tall young man with dark hair and a pink shirt" attacked her and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, 83, as they returned from a restaurant Wednesday night. She said the man followed them home.

Miss Geary is expected to recover but physicians hold out little hope of her sister surviving a skull fracture. The two women lived alone. Detective Jack suspected robbery was the motive for their attack. He also thought the as-

GRID FANS CRACK UP ENROUTE FROM GAME

DuBois, Sept. 27—(AP)—An Oklahoma man was killed and two DuBois men injured last night when the automobile in which they were returning from the DuBois-Clearfield high school football game in Clearfield overturned near Sabula, eight miles east of here.

Dead was Albert Liddle, 28. The injured were Edward Kite, 30, and William Thomas, 28. Physicians said Kite's condition was critical.

Two years ago three persons were killed and four injured in two accidents that befell parties returning from the DuBois-Clearfield game.

Berlin, Sept. 27—(AP)—Two persons were sentenced to death by German courts today for listening to foreign broadcasts and spreading the news they heard.

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Sept. 27—(AP)—Fourteen residents of Avignon were sentenced today by the so-called anti-Communist court at Bordeaux on charges of furthering party propaganda. One was sentenced to life, three to 15 years' imprisonment and the others to varying terms plus fines.

Moscow, Sept. 27—(AP)—RAF units on the Russian front have entrenched themselves with their Russian comrades-in-arms, coming out of their earthworks and taking to the sky whenever necessary to rout the Germans, according to a descriptive dispatch published today by the Russian army newspaper Red Star.

Paris, Occupied France, Sept. 27—(AP)—Marcel Deat, newspaper editor and one of the leading advocates of collaboration between Germany and France, said yesterday in a statement for Americans that France, contrary to American belief, wants no help.

Tokyo, Sept. 27—(AP)—Japan observed in subdued fashion today the first anniversary of her adherence to the tripartite pact with Germany and Russia, and a prominent newspaper commentator urged that Germany patch up peace with Russia and turn against Britain if Axis aims for a "new world order" ever are to be realized.

KNOX SAYS NATION IS NEAR WAR

Secretary of the Navy and Senator Thomas, of Utah, Urge in Separate Declarations, That Neutrality Act Restrictions Be Lifted to Give Free Hand in Safeguarding World Interests

PROTECTION METHODS ARE BEING STUDIED

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox and Senator Thomas (D-Utah) urged in separate declarations today that neutrality act restrictions be lifted to give the United States a free hand in protecting its world interests.

Knox asserted in an article in the "foreign Commerce Weekly" that "the United States stands today on the threshold of World War No. 2."

"I was against the neutrality acts at the time of their passage," he said. "I can only once again urge their repeal."

The magazine for which he wrote is an official publication of the Department of Commerce.

Senator Thomas said he was opposed to "tying the hands of the chief executive in this time of crisis" and proposed that President Roosevelt be given complete discretionary authority to scrap the neutrality legislation.

"We have been abandoning our neutrality step by step," Thomas, a high-ranking member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters.

"There is not much left of the neutrality act now except the prohibitions against the arming of merchant ships, against sending ships into belligerent ports and against Americans traveling on belligerent vessels."

The Utah senator said a simple bill could authorize the president "to fix such regulations regarding neutrality as he deemed necessary in the national interest according to the circumstances of the time."

Secretary Knox followed up his declaration that war was near with an assertion that "it is imperative that we take every necessary measure to preserve our foreign commerce and the lives of our

INQUIRY INTO MOVIES SCORED

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—Senator Nye (R-ND) challenged the administration today to a senate showdown on the question of continuing an Interstate Commerce subcommittee investigation of alleged propaganda in the movies.

Nye, co-author with Senator Clark (D-Mo) of a resolution calling for a formal inquiry, told reporters that statements made by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.) at a tumultuous committee session yesterday indicated the administration would make "an organized attack" on the injuiry in the senate next week.

McFarland, who objected strenuously to the introduction of testimony dealing with alleged discrimination by the British purchasing commission against employment of persons of Jewish, German or southern Irish descent, previously had asserted that no more than 18 senators, far short

PRISONER ADMITS HE KILLED THREE PEOPLE

Yakima, Wash., Sept. 27—(AP)—Carrying a pistol in a shoulder holster, John Soto was arrested at Kennewick early today and confessed, Police Chief M. H. Kershaw said, that he killed three persons at an Oregon farm to rob them "and because they found out who I was."

The young man, about 25, added in his signed confession that he would have shot two neighbors had he not used his ammunition putting six shots into one of his victims.

Shot through the heads, apparently from behind, the bodies of Mrs. Cora Tobin, 68, a widow; her son, Kenneth Gorsuch, 45, and her nephew, Marvin Adams, 25, were found yesterday by a neighbor who called at the farm, near Hermiston, Ore., to borrow eggs.

INDEPENDENT UNION AT DUQUESNE APPEALS

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Independent Association of Duquesne Light Company Employes filed exceptions yesterday to the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board certification of a CIO union as exclusive bargaining agency for workmen at the light company's Colfax plant.

Among other things, the independent union claimed certification of the CIO Utility Workers Organizing Committee was contrary to provisions of the state labor relations act because the company's present contract with the independents does not expire until August 14, 1942.

SECOND ARMY IS READY TO STRIKE

By the Associated Press

The harassed and outnumbered Second Army bared its fangs today in the Louisiana war games and waited for an opportunity to strike with its new anti-tank weapons against armored units of the advancing Third Army.

Since the swampy terrain of Louisiana is an obstacle to tank travel, the tank-killers, formed from artillery units throughout the country, were placed like rattlesnakes in ambush along all roads leading into the Second Army's territory.

These anti-tank units are an innovation in the U. S. army. Fast and as maneuverable or more so than tanks, they may prove to be the answer to the problem of defense against heavily armored forces.

Meanwhile, the main body of the Third Army troops, following in the wake of its second armored division, closed steadily in on the defensive Second Army. Between

Mass Ceremonies at Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Yards Acclaimed by President as "A Telling Blow At Menace to Our Nation," and Emphasizes Intention to Protect American Merchantmen

DATE IS DESIGNATED "LIBERTY FLEET DAY"

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt acclaimed today's launching of 14 cargo ships as "a telling blow at the menace to our nation," and emphasized his intention to protect American merchantmen "from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The chief executive's congratulations on the largest mass launching since World War days were sent in a specially transcribed message to the Atlantic, Pacific and gulf yards where the new vessels slid down the ways at intervals from dawn to dusk.

America's shipbuilders, the president said, "have caught the true spirit with which all this nation must be imbued if Hitler and other aggressors of his ilk are to be prevented from crushing us."

"We Americans as a whole, he continued, "cannot listen to those few Americans who preach the gospel of fear—who say in effect that they are still in favor of freedom of the seas but who would have the United States tie up our vessels in our ports. That attitude is neither truthful or honest.

"We propose that these ships sail the seas as they are intended to. We propose, to the best of our ability, to protect them from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The day was designated "Liberty Fleet Day" to mark the first launchings of emergency freighters in the Maritime Commission's vast construction program. Three of the "liberty ships"—sometimes called "ugly ducklings" because of their workaday design—were on today's launching schedule.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that the first of the liberty ships, built at Baltimore, was to be called the Patrick Henry, and he recalled that Revolutionary patriot's famous demand: "Give me liberty or give me death."

BASIS FOR PAY GIVEN BRITAIN

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The basis for repayment under the first big lease-lend agreement since the war-aid act was passed last March has been forwarded to the British government, but house members who were told about it said today they were still unaware of its terms.

Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state, told a House appropriations subcommittee considering the new $5,985,000,000 lend-lease proposal yesterday that the "basis of discussions" with Great Britain regarding conditions of repayment for American supplies had reached the point where Britain could be asked how she felt about them.

He also told the subcommittee that several agreements already had been concluded with Latin-American governments. These are believed to be with Paraguay, Haiti, and the Dominican republic. The terms of those agreements al-

BANK ROBBERS ON WAY TO PEN TRY TO ESCAPE

Two Alert Guards Thwart Desperate Attempt at Freedom Made by Convicted Men in Speeding Prison Automobile Near Mercer

ONE USES A LONG KNIFE

Mercer, Sept. 27—(AP)—Two alert guards thwarted a desperate attempt at freedom made by two convicted bank robbers in a speeding prison automobile, en route from federal court in Erie to Western Penitentiary at Pittsburg last night.

The prisoners, Francis X. Spinley, 25, and John Simmons, 25, both of Buffalo, a few hours earlier were sentenced with John Edward Kern, 29, of Pittsburgh to 25-year terms for the $5,311 holdup of the First National bank of Eldred May 14.

William Braun, prison guard who was riding in the back seat with the robbers described their attempted break as follows:

The car was traveling along the Perry highway 20 miles north of Mercer. Although the prisoners were handcuffed together, one of them slipped a long knife from his clothing and swung it on Braun.

Seeing the flash of the knife, Braun jerked his right arm upward to fend off the blow. The blade ripped into his hand. Shouting a warning to Parole Officer John A. McEwen in the front seat, he grabbed the two men.

McEwen jammed on the brake, throwing the men in the rear seat to the floor, Braun landing on top. Drawing his gun, McEwen held the prisoners at bay.

Continuing on to Mercer, the guards left the robbers in the cus-

PA. CRUDE INDUSTRY IN DANGER

Only 52 Per Cent of 1940 Output Can Be Produced Without Loss at Current Quotations, Witnesses Argue Before Office of Price Administration in Hearing Held in Washington

HIGHER RATE NEEDED TO STIMULATE SUPPLY

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—Only 52 per cent of the Pennsylvania grade crude oil industry's 1940 output can be produced without a loss at the current quoted price, producers argued before the office of price administration.

Presenting the industry's case yesterday in support of a petition for cancellation of the emergency price schedule ordered by Price Administrator Leon Henderson on August 22, Attorney Fayette B. Dow of Washington declared:

"If the question is asked why we go on producing with a loss on 48 per cent of the barrels produced, the obvious answer, of course, is that these cost figures include depletion, depreciation and authorization."

This brought from Producer Ralph T. Zook of Bradford, Pa., the remark "we had been going along ignoring depletion, depreciation and authorization. If that is to continue, the Pennsylvania grade industry is no more."

"We are not expected to make an industry," commented Quinn Shaughnessy, price executive in the fuel section of OPA.

"If the price administrator is not expected to remake an industry," replied Dow during a flurry of debate over the remark, "neither is he expected to prevent the remaking of an industry when economic conditions warrant."

Intervening with a question whether the other price ceilings ordered by OPA had not applied to industries that were making a price, Senator Guffey (D-Pa) drew the reply from assistant Price Administrator J. K. Galbraith that "we have conflicting stories on that."

"This industry is not making a profit and that must be considered," stated Guffey, adding the president would be interested in oil as a natural resource as he was in bituminous coal when he approved the coal act.

Shaughnessy's concession that he had made "an unfortunate remark" resulted in the subject being dropped.

Appearing at the hearing prior to the debate, Henderson told the producers "we decidedly will take no action to prevent an adequate supply of Pennsylvania crude from reaching the market."

The producers argued there was a naturally growing demand for Pennsylvania grade crude, the capacity to refine it existed but that a higher price was necessary to stimulate the supply.

They contended price advances disallowed by the OPM last month were not inflationary because they "fulfilled the economic purpose of stimulating supply to meet an increased demand."

"In most industries," Dow pointed out, "new supplies can normally be produced when needed and the effect of an increased price is almost immediate in encouraging greater output.

MINERS IGNORE ORDER OF LEWIS

Hazelton, Sept. 27—(AP)—Anthracite miners striking against increased union dues and assessments concentrated their efforts today on spreading the revolt after reiteration by John L. Lewis that they must return to work before consideration of their demands.

Frank Gozjack, member of a committee of insurgents which conferred with Lewis earlier in the week, wired the United Mine Workers chieftain asking him to set up a provisional government in the Hazelton district seven pending settlement of the dispute.

Martin Brennan, chairman of a union commission sent here to investigate the revolt, said Lewis' answer was "it is essential that the men of District Seven return to work before I reconsider the proposition to set up a temporary government in the district."

Whirl of Events Follows Signing Of Tripartite Pact One Year Ago

By the Associated Press

One year ago today Japan, Germany and Italy became the three musketeers of world totalitarianism, signing a 10-year-one-for-all and all-for-one pledge aimed unmistakably at intimidating and neutralizing the United States.

The Axis was in the ascendant then. Britain seemed to be staggering, Russia was Germany's official friend, and Japan — with vaulting ambitions despite her long and wearisome involvement in China — was inclined to congratulate herself on her shrewdness in lining up with Adolf Hitler.

The Hitler "new order for Europe" was to have its oriental counterpart, with Japan as its master

Today, slightly perplexed after the year's whirl of events, Japan apparently finds herself wondering about that German tie.

At the outset of her first year as a tripartite pact member, Japan's hopes were high. She signed a "peace treaty" with the government of her Chinese puppet, Wang Ching-Wei of Nanking, and sent a new ambassador to Washington.

Britain reacted to the pact by reopening the Burma road, chief supply route for the free China of Chiang Kai-Shek.

Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka later went on a state visit to Berlin and Rome, talking to Hitler and Benito Mussolini about the blueprints for their "new order."

Warren County Residents Turn Clocks Back One Hour Tonight

Residents of Warren, as well as those in other communities throughout the nation which have been on daylight saving time for the past five months, will get an extra hour of sleep tonight.

In Warren and neighboring communities in the county, Eastern Standard Time will return officially at 12 o'clock midnight tonight, when clocks will be turned back one hour to make up for the hour that was lost when daylight saving time went into effect on April 28.

In most communities where "fast time" has been in effect, clocks will be turned back officially at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Most residents, disregarding the "official" hour of the change, will turn their clocks back before they retire tonight, in order to make sure that they do not arise too early on Sunday.

Church services will return to standard time tomorrow and those who fail to turn their clocks back may find themselves arriving an hour before the scheduled time for the services.

While there has been some talk of extending daylight saving time throughout the winter months in order to conserve electric power, the announcement yesterday by the Federal Power Commission that it would not recommend continuation of fast time beyond today precluded any extension.

CYCLIST IN CRASH

Corry Journal. Arthur Bacon, 583½ West Church street, escaped serious injury when the bicycle upon which he was riding crashed into the Chevrolet coupe driven by Harold Paulson, of Spring Creek, at the intersection of West Church street and Second avenue, about 5:00 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. The cyclist struck the rear left fender of the car. The youth was bruised and shaken up but not seriously hurt and declined assistance. Both the bicycle and automobile were slightly damaged.

More than a billion dollars worth of industrial chemicals are produced by U. S. factories yearly, statistics of the Census of Manufacturers reveal. This is nearly twice the value of the U. S. cotton crop in recent years.

ROBERT HARRY JACKSON
Warren

Robert looks at you with trusting and understanding eyes of blue, and without guile asks you one question: "Will you vote for me"? Forgetting for a moment that there are many other splendid candidates for Favorite Baby honors, there is no denying that here's a boy to bring you joy and satisfaction in the thought that your votes have not been misplaced. Robert has reached the ripe old age of 17 months, and weighs 24 pounds and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harold Jackson, 104 Sixth avenue, Warren, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Lord, of the above address. This boy is just beginning to talk, is usually in a happy frame of mind and seldom cries. He is fond of his toy trucks and would like to be "Favorite"!

FALL SEASON IS OPENED AT "Y" BOYS DIVISION

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. launched its fall program Friday evening with a boys' "kick-off" party at the association building. There were 138 boys on hand to start the fall season and to enjoy the newly decorated boys' department, to which has been added a radio, a new reading room and several new and interesting games to add to the enjoyment of the members. During the evening the fall schedule of clubs and activities was presented by T. F. Eppley, boys' director, and the physical department program was outlined by Edwin L. Hasler, physical director.

Highlights of the party program included a magic show by Bill Clinger, Bill Hill, Jr., and Tommy Hampson; a humorous lecture by John Erickson under the guise of Dr. Wilson Q. Holmes; movies and group singing.

During the program, leaders of the various boys' clubs for the year were presented. The Sketch Club, which opens Monday night at seven o'clock, will be led by Tut Babbitt; Ping-Pong Club, meeting next Wednesday night at 7:00, led by Merle Seymour; Friendly Indian Club, new this year, meeting next Thursday afternoon at 4:00, led by Clarence Zurcher; Magic Club, Friday night at 7:00, led by Bill Clinger.

Other clubs to be started in the near future include Photography Club, Whittling Club, Stamp Club, Hiking Club, Hobby Club, World Brotherhood Club and Booster Club. The Junior Bible Class suppers will begin on Friday, October 10th. Naborhood clubs and the S. E. B. Club will start early in October. All school clubs are now in session.

Assistance in supervision of the evening program was provided by the Boys' Council, a group of older boys who are training as leaders in the boys' department. On the council this year are Vincent Gray, president; Bill Anderson, secretary, and the following boys: James Boddorf, Anthony Vescio, Bill Vescio, Alan Babcock, Myron King, Klahr McDonald, Stewart Washburn, Don Sontag, Stan Campbell, Bud Leuthold, Gordon Hanks, John Harrington, James Krespan and Dick Pryce.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES FOR WARREN HIKERS

The third season of the Allegheny Hiking Club will begin tomorrow afternoon, with the sixty-third scheduled trip since the group was organized in October, 1939. And regardless of the varied ages of the hikers, it appears from inquiries received by leaders that the three year olds will be ready like their namesakes for the start of a race. However, the journey this week will be an easy one, so that any new hikers who wish to join the party can do so in full expectation of a none too strenuous trip.

The group will meet at General Joseph Warren Park on Poplar street at 2:15 p. m., and leaving promptly at 2:30, drive to Pittsfield, where, under the leadership of F. M. Geer, a hike of about five miles will be had, to include one of the hills in that vicinity. Two or three extra cars will be needed to transport drivers of other cars between the starting point and the end of the trip, and any such members of families who do not intend to join in the hiking are asked to telephone Miss Catherine Reed at 1024-R before the start.

A number of new and interesting trips have been planned for the coming season, to include hikes over several of the trails which have been recently marked with the attractive signs of the Allegheny National Forest. The Buffalo Hiking Club has been invited, and is contemplating a trip with the local club in late October.

How Spies Code Their Messages

AP Feature Service

TESTIMONY of a star witness at the Nazi spy trial in Brooklyn revealed a complicated secret code plan which the witness, William G. Sebold, said Nazis used in communications with spies in the United States. Sebold, who testified he had become a counter-espionage agent for the United States after having been hired by the Nazis, explained that the code works like this:

12-89-3

1-39-23-1-4-6-22-25-3-39

1. The spy receives a harmless looking slip of paper full of numbers. Nothing in this a guy could be arrested for . . . but then—

"Island in the Corn."
Gustavus

2. He receives this cable. Note the date, Sept. 22. Add month number (9), day of month (22), add 20 and you get a total of 51.

3. So he obtains the book, turns to page 51, and goes to work, taking the numbers slip from its hiding place. First number is 12. Top line, words 1 and 2 are "by February." Second line, words 8 and 9, third line word 3.

Chapter Five

By February, Father had eliminated himself from the family circle, because in the month after his first return to Hasselmans at large he had, Doctor Burns declared, restored himself completely. The voice was once more without the slight edge pain had put upon it, the festoon of whisker on his face was again glossy, his step had the old grace. So Father traveled.

The second row of figures applies to letters in the top line of the book page. So, counting off letters from those figures you find that letter No. 1 is B, 39 is O, 23 is M, etc. The letters add up to "BOMBER INFO"—and the entire message reads:

Churches Making Plans to Observe Holy Communion Sunday, Oct. 5

Thousands of churches all over the world, including those of Warren and vicinity, will join on Sunday, October 5, in the simultaneous observance of the Holy Communion, the celebration of the sacrament emphasizing the increasing need of fellowship and Christian unity in a war-torn world.

Churches of many denominations will commemorate the first simple observance in the upper room, where Jesus instructed His disciples on the great task remaining before them, and enjoined them to love one another, even as He had loved them.

The service is sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches in Christ in America, through its department of evangelism, in cooperation with national denominational offices and with affiliated state and local councils.

Union communion services are not contemplated, but each individual church will call its own members together at "a table 25,000 miles long." It is stated that 25 per cent more communicants are expected than attended last year.

World-wide Communion Sunday will again be made the occasion for a nationwide appeal on behalf of the sufferers of war. Many churches will cooperate in the appeal being directed by the committee on foreign relief appeals in the churches, which promotes and coordinates the foreign relief work of denominational committees.

Commenting on the communion, the Federal Council Bulletin states in its September issue:

"The observance of World-wide Communion Sunday may be a factor of unimagined importance in our thought and work during the coming months. The experience of the sacrament requires humility and is conducive to humility. We are concerned with what God has done and continues to do for us, not with what we can do ourselves. In such a setting, the awareness of fellowship with the millions around the world who partake of the same sacrament will be an awareness of fellowship which transcends the world, the community surviving wars and tensions. Church unity and cooperation based thereon will be sound in the parish, the local community, the nation, the world. It will be of God."

ROTARIANS TO HEAR TALK BY JEWISH RABBI

Rotarians, at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday, will hear a talk on "Life in the Union of South Africa," delivered by a man who has spent much of his lifetime in that country.

The guest speaker is to be Dr. Jacob Israel Harris, of Bloemfontein, South Africa, here as rabbi for the Jewish holiday season and a man of very high calibre.

Dr. Harris received his B. A. degree in Semitic languages at the University of Wit Water Strand, South Africa, and his master's degree in applied psychology at the University of South Africa. Coming to this country, he was granted his Ph. D. for work in Semitic languages at Columbia University in New York City.

He has been engaged as lecturer in applied psychology at St. Andrew's University in South Africa, and upon his return to that country will go to Pretoria, capital of the Union of South Africa, as professor of Semitic languages.

Another interesting phase of his activities is his research work at Yeshiva College on the author of the legend of the Golem, Rabbi Low of Prague, who was a philosopher of religion and education.

SUGAR GROVE FAIR NOTES

Many readers will be interested in the following communication, entitled "Post-Fair Notes" and received from one who was closely identified with the very successful community fair held recently at Sugar Grove.

In the opinion of the judges and supervisors in the various departments of the Sugar Grove Fair, the home economics exhibits this year were far superior to those of previous displays. Up-to-date interests in choice of project and detail were evident.

Because the quantity of articles was less than usual, it was possible to provide space for finished articles made for the Red Cross. Judging by the many questions asked, Red Cross workers will have a better understanding of the required work. It is hoped many new helpers may be enlisted in this effort for national defense.

There were many interested friends to view the display set up by the local troop of Girl Scouts. An exhibit was made of regular Scout equipment and a number of badges that may be earned. There were also included many articles for war relief and tallies, the girls maintaining a camp fund on the sale of tallies.

Each year more space must be given to the hobby show. We find many persons in the community at work on their hobby, with a display at fair time in mind. The class has been broken into creative and collective types and, as the department grows, will be more detailed to take care of various entries. Owing to the popularity of photography, we have made special prizes for photo displays. Chandes are being made in next year's book to classify these displays.

Arts and crafts have increased to such an extent that a separate department will be made for them. Woodworking, metal work, leather and novelty jewelry appeared most popular.

The quality of the canned goods and jellies was exceptional. There were 468 displays in that department. There were 128 entries in baked goods. About one-half of the entries in the sewing section were made by girls and one-third of all the prizes in this department were drawn by girls for their superior workmanship. Remodeled garments were particularly outstanding. Growth in this department is very much in evidence as shown by improvement in workmanship and better application of design principles.

Plans are under way for several additions in the home economics section of next year's fair, among which are demonstrations in fancy work, arts and crafts, and sewing.

TAXES!

A New Item For Your Budget!

The Government's huge expenditures in rounding out the Defense Program will have to be paid for . . . largely by increased income taxes. For some time to come TAXES should be considered a budget expenditure by all Americans earning an income.

We suggest two ways to meet this extra burden:

1. Buy each month Tax Anticipation Notes offered by the U. S. Treasury Department in an amount sufficient to pay 1/12th of your estimated income taxes for the coming year. You can buy these at your bank.

OR

2. Lay aside a similar amount each month in a Special Savings Account at Warren Bank & Trust Company.

LADY LUCK HANDS RUEFUL PLAYER UNBID SMALL SLAM

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In tournament bridge the element of luck is eliminated so far as the cards are concerned, because everyone plays the same hands, but as in every other sport, there is always the luck of the play. You may, for instance, get a difficult hand against weak opponents who do not defend it well. Or you may be just downright lucky.

Here is a case that happened at the summer session of the national tournament at Asbury Park. Immediately after bidding one no trump, a player dropped the king of hearts. The rules state that if you expose an honor card, your partner is barred from the bidding on that hand.

This player and his partner were using strong no trumps—so you can imagine how his partner felt, with his big hand, and barred from the bidding. But one no trump was the contract, and, believe it or not, the declarer got the only opening lead that would allow him six no trump.

BACK ON STANDARD TIME

Turn the clocks back an hour tonight!

Warren will swing back to Standard Time officially tomorrow morning at two o'clock, ending a period of Daylight Saving that has been in effect since April.

As was stated in Friday's issue, the Federal Power Commission at Washington announced that it would not recommend the continuation, beyond September 28, of daylight saving time in any region of the United States. This was followed by an announcement in Harrisburg that no action would be taken by state officials to prolong fast time, although the issue is one that could be settled in each individual community, such as Warren.

Trend of sentiment during the summer months justifies the prediction that 1942 may see Daylight Time adopted as a nation-wide movement, even including the District of Columbia which has never departed from its Standard Time belt.

So, in this parting paragraph, we remind all to switch the clock back sixty minutes before you go to sleep this evening and sleep an hour later Sunday morning.

"SALUTE TO THE OIL INDUSTRY"

The story of the outstanding job the oil industry in Warren and other oil centers throughout the country is doing in the national defense program is being told to millions of people through newspaper and magazine advertising of a new type.

In an advertisement, "Salute to the Oil Industry," that appeared in Thursday's issue of the Times-Mirror, tribute is paid to oil men and attention is called to an article about the industry by Fulton Lewis, Jr., well known writer, which appears as an advertisement sponsored by Johns-Manville in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

After visiting oil centers all over the country and interviewing leaders of the oil industry, Mr. Lewis titled his article "Hitler Picked Our Weapon." He found that the oil industry is prepared for whatever this country faces in the future-war of defense, or war itself.

A colorful and active life came to a close in the passing early Friday morning of A. A. Riwa, more affectionately known to his host of friends as "Gus." Mr. Riwa's recitals of early events in the history of Warren were vivid and interesting and it is regrettable that they could not be preserved for coming generations.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

FOR WHAT IS YOUR LIFE?

REV. J. E. KIFFER
Free Methodist Church, Warren

Text: James 4:14—For what is your life?

The question is not asked of the illusive, mysterious thing we call life, but rather of life as a program, as a time to act toward responsibilities given us by our Creator.

We would ask, Is your life what you possess? People much concerned about getting. There was a certain man who had so much he had to tear down his barns and build greater. Successful in getting, but God said, "Thou fool." Man has yet to learn he is overbuilt for this world. All earthly things would not give satisfaction or soul rest.

Is life what you know? Paul said, "Though he understood all mysteries and all knowledge, without something else he would be nothing."

Is life what you do? Paul said, "Though he bestow all his goods to feed the poor, and give his body to be burned," without something else it would be worthless.

Your life is your interests. We live in geography, but in a higher moral and spiritual realm. It is not so much the house as the interests that make the home. We need something to attract, to focus and bind together the loose ends of our ambitions and give us a pole star as our ultimate goal.

Many lives, like the pyramid, start on a large dimension and come to naught in a few years. Other lives, like the pyramid upside down, start well, but scattered interests make it ineffective. Life should rather be like a shaft, straight and symmetrical.

God is the only sufficient attraction that will hold our interests successfully and completely under the changing experiences of life. Interests make for influence, concentration and mental peace.

What is your life as to duration of time? It is like a vapor that appeareth for a little time. It is like grass that groweth up and then withers. It is spent as a tale that is told, and we are telling the story. Is it a pleasant story or a tragical one?

A year, a life, what is it?
At best a brief delight,
A sun scarce brightening
Ere sinks in night,
A flower at morning fresh,
At noon decayed,
A swift deep current
Gliding into shade.

What is your life as to purpose? Is it Christ-centered or self-centered? The wise man said, "To live was to fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Thou hast granted me life and favour, and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit.—Job 10:12.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—On a recent one-nighter Artie Shaw went out to the Empire ballroom at Allentown, Pa. . . . It was a hot night, about 97. . . . There were thousands of rug-cutters on hand. . . . Finally Artie went back behind the bandstand to a large open window to get a bit of fresh air. On the sidewalk next to the window stood a young fellow who said, "You're Shaw, aren't you? How about your autograph?"

Artie gave it to him. . . . "Why aren't you inside?" he wanted to know.

"Frankly," he was told, "I haven't got the buck and a quarter."

Shaw looked at him a moment. He reached his hand into his pocket and drew out the required amount. "Come on in, on me."

"I couldn't do that." The youth was embarrassed.

"Don't worry," said Shaw, "Sixty percent of it comes back to me anyway. Come on in."

And he did.

IT was interesting to see Phil Baker after fifteen years' absence from the night clubs. He came back with Harry Richman to the Riviera, and he forgot some of his lines, though none minded—except Phil. Later he said, "I wasn't nervous. Not a bit. But I forgot half the things I wanted to do."

Fifteen years is a long time. I asked him if it had really been that long since he had indulged in the old trade of making night club customers laugh.

"Yep," he said, "this is the first night club I've worked in since the old Ziegfeld Roof days, when you could get a real nice dinner for an annuity and a half."

In his new duties Phil employs a bit of geography and a note of patriotism. He sings a little song that asks the question, "What are we going to defend?" Then he starts in with Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and names all the 48 states. . . . That's where Phil got a little mixed up. He named Ohio three times and forgot Nevada. . . . You try naming the 48 states, right fast, and see how far you get. . . . When Phil names the last state he pauses, then sings, "That's what we're going to defend." The welcome they gave him must have made him feel very, very good.

IT must be a fine feeling that John O-Steen of Kinston, North Carolina, and Elaine L. Berg, of Grand Forks, North Dakota, have these days. And for it they can thank Kay Kyser.

Some months ago the old professor founded two scholarships, one in music and the other in dramatic arts, at his alma mater, the University of North Carolina. . . . The other day the first winners were announced. Mr. O-Steen gets the scholarship in music. . . . Miss Berg gets the scholarship in dramatic art. . . . All expenses paid. Three guesses who Miss Berg's and Mr. O-Steen's favorite orchestra leader is going to be from now on—and the first two don't count.

Joffre's Stand at Marne Stopped Drive on Paris

MARSHAL JOSEPH JOFFRE, who commanded the French army from the outbreak of the war in 1914 until 1917, was criticized in many quarters after the war for his generalship and tactics. He was called "the imposing edifice behind which other brains connived" and the "man who nearly brought France to ruin."

Joffre, who was honored philatelically in the 1940 stamp above, made no effort to defend himself. He wrote a two-volume book of memoirs but refused to permit publication until his death.

When he died in 1931, the book was released. Joffre critics were silenced in large measure, for it was found that the marshal operated under tremendous handicaps.

The French army in 1914 was still suffering from rigor-mortis caused by the disastrous war of 1870. Staff work was intolerable and the calculations of the war plans division proved poor.

Joffre, who was 62 at the outbreak of the war, is best known for his miraculous stand at the Marne, which stopped the German advance and saved Paris.

FLAG FACTS

The world may see a new, but probably not permanent flag in the standard being created by the axis to include colors of flags of all European nations. These questions will test your knowledge of flags of two hemispheres.

1. What woman is associated with the making of the first American flag, and when is Flag Day in the U. S.?
2. What are the colors of the following flags: Great Britain, Spain, Ecuador, Ethiopia?
3. What South and Central American nations have stars in their flags?
4. Which way do the stripes run in the French tri-color, and what are the three colors?
5. What British possessions have stars in their flags, and what two nations of the middle east have stars?

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—A list of this administration's one-time friends, appointees or otherwise favored persons who have become critical thorns in the administration's side would be longer than your arms.

High up on that list is the genial gentleman from Virginia, Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, who, after a year of comparative quiet while stringing along with the President's foreign policies, has busted loose again with one of the strongest denunciations of the defense production lag that has come from any Democratic quarter.

Although it never was widely known and now is almost forgotten, it was President Roosevelt who opened the door of the United States Senate for the former Virginia governor.

At one time, before the prenomination campaign of 1932, Byrd was Roosevelt's selection for chairman of the national Democratic committee. Byrd would have had the post, too, but John J. Raskob didn't resign as expected. After Roosevelt's first election, however, he was in position to bring Byrd to the Senate—by appointing Virginia Senator Claude A. Swanson as secretary of the navy. Byrd then was appointed to succeed Swanson, and has held the seat ever since.

Opposed Pump-Priming

SENATOR BYRD hardly had taken his seat before his differences with the administration became apparent. As governor, he had balanced the Virginia budget and drastically reorganized the state government, much to the consternation and unhappiness of the bureaucrats.

Pump-priming with government funds wasn't his idea of the way to float the country out of the depression. Expansion of government through the establishment of many new bureaus and agencies wasn't his idea of economy. The new senator said so.

Byrd has been saying it ever since, and in such language that he almost always makes himself heard. This prodding of administration policies continued through the reorganization fights, the court bill fight, various relief expenditures, the NRA, the labor relations bill, and continuation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Almost always, Byrd drove his wedge at the weakest point. It hurt.

Therefore, it must have been some relief to administration leaders when the junior senator from Virginia went all out for the President's foreign policies. It must have lightened the load considerably for the men who carry the hod on Capitol Hill to find one of the Senate's chief foes of spending in the administration camp during the scrap for those vast outlays for national defense.

Quiet Long Enough

THEY should have known that it was too good to last. About a year ago, Senator Byrd threw out a hint when he opened up on the snail's pace with which defense production was getting under way. Then, according to his own statement, he kept quiet just to see if the snarls wouldn't unravel by themselves.

He thinks they haven't. So now, the apple king from Virginia (his apple orchards are among the largest in the country) and newspaper publisher (he has papers at Winchester and Harrisonburg) is at it again. His goal is elimination of waste in the defense effort; an approach to the all-out production which he feels the appropriations warrant; and a one-man defense production head.

You'll probably be hearing a lot from Byrd of Virginia in the months to come.

STRONG SPRINGDALE A. A. TO MEET JACKETS TOMORROW

LEAGUES CLOSE THIS WEEKEND; TWO FORGOTTEN MEN WILL SEE ACTION IN SERIES ENCOUNTERS

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Overshadowed by the proximity of the World Series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, the stormy regular season of the major leagues will drag to an unannounced finish this week-end.

As far as the fans are concerned, the schedule might as well have been defaulted after the Dodgers clinched the National League pennant Thursday, but several odds and ends of interest to baseball people themselves remain to be decided.

Even the Dodgers aren't entirely satisfied. Although they already have won more games than any other Brooklyn club in history, 99, they would like to hit 100.

For this reason the Dodgers are glad to have their two final contests with the last-place Phillies. Manager Leo Durocher said he would let most of his regulars take a couple of turns at bat in each game.

Bob Feller completed his campaigning yesterday with a one-hit performance against his old nemesis, the St. Louis Browns, for his 25th triumph of the year, two short of his 1940 total. The effort, marred somewhat by seven walks, gave Cleveland a 3-2 decision in the second game of a doubleheader after the Browns captured the opener, 6-5, in 10 innings.

It left the Indians with a chance to pull abreast of both Chicago and Detroit, who were thrown into a tie for third when the Tigers trimmed the White Sox, 4-3.

The New York Yankees posted their 100th and 101st victories by whipping the Washington Senators, 4-1 and 1-0, as Spud Chandler and Lefty Marius Russo each turned up for the World Series with three-hit pitching performances.

The Yanks made two double plays in each game to run their total for the season to 190 and break the American League record of 187 set by the Indians in 1928.

In the day's only National League encounter, the Cincinnati Reds nudged out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, with Johnny Vander Meer pitching a steady nine-hit game. The contest drew only 717 fans.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES

(This is one in a series on personalities in the World Series.)

By SID FEDER

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Back in 1935, right field and the right field bleachers in Yankee Stadium were hallowed ground.

This was Ruthville. The Babe was through for keeps. He'd hung up that No. 3 which had been plastered all over the place for 15 years. But to the fans, his territory was still as marked as if he'd pitched a tent and was getting his mail there.

That spring a broad-backed rookie with a square chin came over from Newark to the Yanks. They fitted him out with a monkey suit, slapped that same No. 3 on his back and told him to go out and play right field.

It's an old story, the job Twinkletoes George Selkirk had on his hands. The fans greeted him like little Johnny goes for his Saturday night bath. Everything was nice and pleasant—like a hospital.

But Twink lived through it, stuck it out, and at long last the cheers came. He batted .312 that year and followed with .308 and .328 the next two seasons.

Lot of splinters have been picked off the bench since then. The last couple of years, youngsters have come along to outshine Twink and he's been sitting the waltzes out most of the afternoons. But early this month, King Kong Charley Keller, the Maryland beauty, busted an ankle bone sliding into second base.

Manager Joe McCarthy looked up and down the dugout, pointed a finger at Twink, and said, "Sonny, you're it."

All he has to do now is prove he's as good as the walloper who only was robbed of the American League championship for knocking in runs by an injury. Keller may see some series service, but it's a cinch Selkirk will have to be in there for him part of the time."

When he made his trip over from Newark to New York back in '35, Selkirk passed another outfielder on the way back to the Bears. Fred (Dixie) Walker had been with the Yanks for three seasons before that, and while he did a pretty fair job while he was working—he didn't work enough. He'd been hurt each season, and the word went out that here was a brittle ball player.

So the Yanks sent him back, brought him up again in '36 and sold him to Chicago. He landed with Detroit in '38 and labored with the Tigers through half of 1939. Then he was sold to Brooklyn and the Tigers went on to win the American League championship in 1940.

Prexy Larry MacPhail, the great mouthpiece of the Dodgers, refuses to admit Dixie has been one of the leaders in the dash of "Dem Bums" to the National League flag this season. But Prez MacPhail has been known to be wrong before. Everyone else in baseball tosses bouquets at Dixie for his hitting and his fight.

So here they are, the forgotten men—Selkirk and Walker. Neither of 'em will be around much longer, but while they're in there, they play it up to the hilt. They're the kind of fellows the big leaguers point to and say, "There go a couple of ball players' ball players."

Glen McQuillen, Browns and Bob Feller, Indians—McQuillen hit triple and double to spark 10-inning victory in first game; Feller pitched one-hitter in nightcap for 25th triumph of season.

BOB MAIN IS ARMY'S GIFT TO RED JACKETS; SPORTSMEN PLAN REFUGES FOR SMALL GAME

Good news to Red Jacket fans was received by this office yesterday afternoon when Bob Main strode in and told us he would be home for ten days on furlough from Mitchel Field, New York, where he is currently stationed in the army air force. This means that Bob will be available for rehearsals and two games, tomorrow's and next Sunday's fracas, and following these two he plans to come home each weekend to play with the local pros. Main will be received by Coaches Reese and Paris as a Christmas gift would be, because the clever end is badly needed on the Jacket club this year, where a couple of good wings would strengthen the outfit quite a bit. Bob is a player who is good both on offense and defense, and whenever a pass comes down the shute Main really hugs it if he gets his hands on the pigskin. So, starting tomorrow, local fans can start looking for the champs to beat their opponents with an air attack, if necessary, and Warnie Check should start getting answers to those long distance calls of his, what with someone on the other end as capable as the former Warren High School star.

The Warren County Council of Sportsmen has laid an extensive program to be undertaken for the fall and winter months in their new year, including the possible purchase of feeding plots for small game, which will be beneficial to all hunters in this section. The body intends to make these plots refuges for the wild animals (small game) where they may go and find food when the snow covers natural resources such as plants, herbs, etc. The areas would not be fenced, cannot be according to game laws, but hunters would be restricted from the land, so that it would be a refuge in every sense of the word. This plan has been successfully carried out in many other counties in other years, and Warren's sportsmen, if they get the land they need, should meet with the same kind of result. Other objectives which the group hopes to attain are their annual projects of feeding deer throughout the county and holding their field day, plans regarding the latter to be discussed soon. The council is ready for an active year, can and will do a lot for the good of hunting and fishing, and this sanctum forwards its co-operation in every way to help their program to be carried out successfully. Good luck to you, sportsmen.

Gridiron gristle . . . With the teams only having to cross the river to play, this year's World Series is going to be run off in cut time . . . And we still say about five games will be all it'll take, granting that the Dodgers are good enough to take one, but our reasons for saying the Yanks will limit them to just one will be included in a column before the big show starts next week . . . The tickets are all gone and there'll hardly be room for popcorn vendors, though that won't break too many hearts . . . Oil City comes to town next week for the battle of the Blues and Whites . . . Always a colorful contest, regardless of the score . . . And the Oilers boast a nifty band, also . . . Which reminds us that our local band takes second prize to none in district showings on the grid, and there's only one desire this agent would like to have realized, as countless fans also would . . . That is that the bands, when there are two at a game, get together and decide who plays when so much music from both may be enjoyed . . . Last week when the Dragon tooters were making a vain effort to play their alma mater in an impressive manner, the Kane band, through no fault of theirs, however, came up with a number that blended in about as well as a broken down jazz band would sound with the New York Symphony Orchestra . . . Oh, well, we're no music critic, so just play sumpin', boys.

DONELLI QUITS AS HEAD COACH AT DUQUESNE U.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—Buff Donelli, who had two major football coaching jobs yesterday, had only one today—coach of the Pittsburgh pro Steelers.

He resigned as head mentor of Duquesne University last night under the edict of Elmer Layden, commissioner of pro football, that no one could handle two such posts at the same time and do justice to both.

Williams Needs Five Hits For .400 Clip

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Ted Williams figures he needs five hits against the Athletics in three games during the week-end to become the first American Leaguer in 18 years to hit .400 or more for a season.

The tall Boston Red Sox outfielder is confident he can get those five all-important bingles but says he's going to play "even if I finish at .360."

Somebody started a rumor Williams might not play in the single game today and the doubleheader Sunday in order to protect his present .401 average but Ted assured "I'm going to be out there taking my cut."

The last American League player to hit over .400 was Harry Heilman of the Detroit Tigers, who wound up with .403 in 1923. Bill Terry of the Giants was the last National Leaguer to turn the trick, getting .401 in 1940.

CHAMPS SEEK 3RD SUCCESSIVE VICTORY OF SEASON TOMORROW; MAIN BACK IN WARREN LINEUP

Well prepared for the third challenge of the championship they hold, the Red Jackets are in good shape to battle the Springdale A. A. here tomorrow afternoon on Russell Field, the kickoff slated for 2:30 o'clock, eastern standard time.

Having acquired the services of Bob Main, stellar end of past teams now in the army air corps and stationed currently at Mitchell Field, New York, the champs have braced themselves in a few of their weaker positions, and the club fans see tomorrow will be one half again as strong as that which was put afield against Homewood in the opening game this year.

Before Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris have completely shuffled the candidates, this year's crew should present just as dogged a defense and strong offensive power as any other Jacket combinations of the past.

With Joe Leson back in a red and gold uniform, the tackles have been bolstered to some extent and if Main is placed on the same side of the line with Joe, Warren will have a really capable forward wall both in their own ground gaining efforts and those of defending their goal line.

It is expected that most of the players in last week's starting lineup will be in the first aggregation to start off against the visitors tomorrow and if so, Rosequist, Amann, Guichard, Jackson, Van Cise, Barnes, and either Harold Sedon or Main will be in the forward wall, while the backfield should see no changes and therefore will start with Warnie Check, Harold Brown, Joe Bizzaro and Ernie Sedon.

Frank Sirianni will probably be in the starting lineup somewhere if he can play, but his working schedule is such that the former high school star cannot definitely tell whether or not he'll be able to dress for tomorrow's fracas.

The Springdale club, with fifteen veterans of last year's team which battled the locals, in their lineup for this campaign know what to expect from the Jackets and may have a surprise cooked up and ready to spring following the starting kickoff.

Being no kind of club to take too lightly anyone, the invaders have a stalwart defense, boasting a strong line, and fast running backs in J. Howells, Lafferty, Homanic and Lelis which gives them offensive power.

Unity makes the club hard to beat, though it's hard to pick out any individual stars, and their cooperative system has brought Springdale satisfying results in the sandlot grid conferences down around Pittsburgh year after year.

The Red Jacket organization asks fans to take advantage of the new parking system, which settles the problem of making an exit from the field, eliminating many traffic jams. It is also reminding fans that the soft drinks stand is sponsored by the club and that proceeds from the stand are divided with the organization getting half of the intake.

A crowd of around 1500 fans is expected to witness tomorrow's encounter as the local semi-pro champions go out in quest of their third victory of the year in as many starts, and make an effort to stretch their new string of wins to four.

State College Teams Open; Tomasic Stars

Philadelphia, Sept. 27—(AP)—Temple's Andy Tomasic is going places this season. If he keeps up the good work he showed last night as he led the Owls to a 31 to 9 victory over Kansas, he will have a good chance to become All-America.

The triple threat from near Allentown scored three of the five Temple touchdowns and was virtually unstoppable. He passed accurately, ran hard and punted well. His one poor kick resulted in a safety for the Jayhawks in the third period. Otherwise it was the same Tomasic who was named on the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania 1940 aggregation.

Duquesne, Moravian and St. Vincent also turned in victories last night, the second in a row for each eleven.

INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS ENDS WITH FINE TALK

The annual institute for teachers in the schools of Warren and Forest counties and Warren borough came to a close last evening with a very interesting address by Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, of Teachers College, Columbia University, on the subject of "To Think of the Light."

Last evening's program, with Superintendent John G. Rossman presiding, opened with a fine twenty-minute concert by the Warren High School a cappella choir under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler.

At yesterday afternoon's session, at which W. J. Summerville, Warren county assistant superintendent of schools, presided, the speakers were Dr. Allan Stockdale, of New York, who talked on "Education in Defended America," and Dr. Edgar G. Doudna, of Madison, Wis., whose subject was "Demagogs and Pedagogs."

Music at the afternoon session was led by Byron Swanson, of the Youngsville school.

LIGHT RAINFALL DURING MONTH IS NOT SERIOUS

Despite the fact that streams and wells in Warren county are as low as they ever have been at this time of the year, no water supply difficulties are anticipated here and no serious farm damage has been reported.

The unusually light rainfall for September has not seriously affected any crops, it was stated today by O. C. Tritt, Warren county agent.

"New seedings ordinarily would be affected most by the lack of rain and even these are in fairly good shape," Tritt said.

He pointed out that the heavy dews which prevail in this section at this time of the year help to keep moisture in the ground, which does not dry out as fast now as in mid-summer.

Commenting on the low streams, the county agent pointed out that after most unusually dry summers, September rains have helped to keep the stream levels up. This year, however, September has been very dry, with no rain of any consequence since early in the month.

Throughout the state the absence of rain, general in the east this month, has affected smaller streams most, according to officials in the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service.

"Unless we have absolutely no rainfall at all for several weeks, though, I don't see anything particularly alarming in the situation now," said George Weber, of the flood control staff.

Those areas which depend on small streams for their water supply and because of the drought have used much of that in storage may be faced with a temporarily serious problem, he said.

Many local authorities in the state have urged the public to conserve water as much as possible in the event of a dire shortage later.

It has distributed Bibles, Testaments and Gospels in English, French, Italian, Dutch, Polish, Russian, Czech, Hebrew, Yiddish and Finnish. The Netherlands Bible Society is cut off from practically all the continent except Portugal and its capacity to support its worldwide work is being reduced; the French Society is also cut off from its large constituency in Southern France. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. . . . He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual" (p.331).

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IS PARTY OCCASION

Youngsville, Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Henning, of Youngsville, who were united in marriage fifty years ago on Sept. 23rd, at Frewsburg, N. Y., are this week celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

The main celebration was held at the Forge club house, where the fifty-four guests present included their twelve children, twenty grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A six o'clock dinner was enjoyed. Tables were decorated with gold and white tapers and golden flowers. At the table at which the bride and groom of fifty years were seated the center piece was a three-tiered wedding cake with a miniature bridal couple on the top under a golden wedding bell.

Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Henning were presented with a purse of money.

Out of town guests were present from Clearfield, Warren, Oil City, Seneca, Coraopolis and Busti, N. Y.

BRIEFS

The American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary of Youngsville met this week for a luncheon with Mrs. Chester Shattuck, of Warren, while the local Woman's Relief Corps held their monthly Lincoln dinner meeting this week with Mrs. Ed Gustafson.

The Red Circle will meet Wednesday, Oct. 1, with Miss Ruba Babcock.

Marguerite Lucille Matteo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Matteo, was given a pleasant surprise on her recent birthday when six candles on the birthday cake told her age. A dozen little friends helped celebrate the occasion and she received lovely gifts.

UNEMPLOYABLES ARE NOW CHIEF RELIEF CLIENTS

The problem of relief in Pennsylvania has shifted gradually from one of unemployment to caring for those physically unable to work, according to a report from the state department of assistance today.

Of the 523,256 persons receiving some form of financial aid during August, the department said, 194,479 were classed as getting "general assistance." The balance were in the categories of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, or blind pensions, coming under the sweeping description of "special assistance."

The general assistance drop has paralleled the defense boom as jobs became more abundant. In August, 1939, there were 831,506 dependent on the direct relief rolls for sustenance. By August, 1940, the number had been nearly halved, to 478,375. In July, 1941, the number was 210,583, which dropped to 194,479 in August, 1941.

During the same period, old age assistance rose from 81,029 persons in August, 1939, to 103,109 in August this year. Aid to dependent children climbed from 97,831 to 211,855, and blind pensions went from 12,445 to 13,813.

we would not try to tell you that borrowing money to pay off old bills would put you out of debt, but there are several advantages in doing this:

1. It will free you from worry and possible loss of credit.
2. Making one easy monthly payment is considerably more convenient than trying to scatter your pay over several directions at once.
3. By having one easy payment to make each month you will have most of your salary left to pay current expenses and save.
4. The reasonable interest rate would be far less expensive to you than the worry and nerve-strain caused by the task of trying to keep all creditors satisfied at once.

sailant was the same man who killed Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, 68, here a year ago.

Jack said he believed robbery was the motive for the attack and that the assailant was the same man who killed Mrs. Gibson, whose body was found stuffed under a porch steps.

Miss Geary, able to speak rationally for the first time since she was struck down from behind, told Jack yesterday that the young man came to their table at the restaurant and offered them a piece of candy.

"He followed us when we left and we walked about three blocks and then sat down on some steps to rest," she recalled. "He was back of us but walked on past. We started on home and just before we reached the door, he stopped us and then beat us."

Police found at the scene a blood-stained stone and a stick of wood which they said apparently had been used by the assailant.

tinued to swap blows. Besides the British announcement of raids overnight on Cologne in the German Rhineland and on France, a supplemental report said 20 German planes were destroyed or damaged in an attack on an airdrome at an undesignated spot.

The Germans said that beside raids on Britain they attacked Moscow and Tula.

The British acknowledged some damage and a small number of casualties at one place in East Anglia after a Nazi raid. A hostile plane was detected over London but no bombs fell on the city.

In the Far East, Japan quietly observed the first anniversary of the signing of the tripartite agreement with her Rome and Berlin partners.

The commentator Teiichi Muto, writing in the Tokyo newspaper Hochi, urged that Germany make peace with Russia and turn all her force against Britain if the Axis aims for a "new world order" were to be realized.

While British nationals sailed from Japan aboard a special evacuation ship after a rigid Japanese search, the Japanese military command in Shanghai announced capture of Changsha, stoutly-defended capital of Hunan province.

with Communists and advocated the overthrow of the government by unlawful means.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, ruled such action did not constitute grounds for dismissal under the teacher tenure act and ordered his reinstatement.

Gillies took an appeal to the high court after Judge Samuel H. Gardner, of Allegheny county, overruled Haas.

Also attracting much interest was the case of Mayor Clifford H. Peoples, of Chester, removed from office by Judge Samuel E. Shull, specially presiding in Delaware county court.

With four Chester councilmen, Peoples was convicted of malfeasance in connection with the sale of the Chester Water Works Company to the Chester municipal authority.

The appeal automatically continued Peoples in office until the supreme court makes its decision.

The first week's calendar lists appeals from Armstrong, Clarion, Erie, Fayette, Forest, Jefferson, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Westmoreland and Allegheny counties.

On the second week's schedule are cases from Beaver, Butler, Cambria, Greene, Indiana, Lawrence, Washington and Allegheny counties.

Discussing the navy's role, he added "we must both hunt down enemy raiders and at the same time convoy our ships to protect them against such hostile craft as elude our patrols.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 27—(AP)—Wheat prices had a downward trend today due to profit taking and selling stimulated partly by weakness of cotton. Government figures reiterating the fact that there is a huge domestic wheat surplus with no apparent market outside the United States in the near future had a depressing effect.

Opening ⅛-½ lower, December $1.21½-3/8, May $1.25¾-5/8, wheat later held near this range. Corn started unchanged, December 81½, May 87⅛.

Whirl of Events Follows Signing of Tripartite Pact One Year Ago

(From Page One)

On the way home, he stopped in Moscow and signed on Easter Sunday a 10-year neutrality pact with Soviet Russia.

Then came the startling development that tangled the threads of Japanese diplomacy: Germany attacked Russia.

Article 5 of the three-power pact specifically stated the treaty did not apply in any way to relations with Russia. So Japan remained neutral, but she lost little time in getting rid of Foreign Minister Matsuoka.

Mindful of her own "new order," Japan moved into all French Indo-China with ostensible French consent and edged toward Thailand, Singapore and the Indies.

The United States, the British empire and the Dutch East Indies promptly froze Japanese assets.

The United States started sending aid to Russia and Russia flatly told Japan that any interference with those shipments would be an unfriendly act.

At this juncture, the Japanese government began talking about patching things up with the United States, which had the full backing of Britain in the delicate maneuvering. United States and Japanese talks were continuing but there have been no tangible results.

Over 100 Served at the 16th Annual Banquet Of Three Presbyterian Missionary Societies

More than 100 persons were served at the 16th annual missionary banquet held last evening in the First Presbyterian church, arranged by the Second, Arbutus and Lotta Dunham auxiliaries.

This was the first event of its kind in the new church dining room, which was most beautifully decorated by the committee. Silver candelabra held yellow candles and program-favors were in green and yellow with a spray of arbutus for decoration. Mrs. W. J. Phillips headed the committees as general chairman and Mrs. William Walsh was the caterer. In charge of the dining room was Mrs. John R. McLaughlin.

The invocation was given by Dr. Harold C. Warren, pastor, and delightful dinner music was provided by Mrs. Chris Pepke, Mrs. John Benze, W. A. Greaves and Mrs. George Cowden.

An announcement was made by Mrs. W. R. Carlin of the spiritual life program, and Mrs. J. H. McBride presented Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank, of North Warren, president of the Presbyterial, who presided for the remainder of the program.

Mrs. Cruickshank introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. W. Plumer Mills, missionary on furlough, before the group adjourned to the Sunday school room to hear the visitor tell most interestingly of her work during 29 years of service in Nanking, China. Although she has been sent home on furlough because of war conditions, her husband remains at his post in that field.

One statement of particular interest was Mrs. Mills' assertion that "while we in America have much to give China, China, likewise, has much to give us". Another thought which impressed her audience was her mention of the wonderful Christian faith of the young Chinese girls.

Mrs. Mills, being entertained at the home of Miss Mabel Siggins, Liberty street, will speak tomorrow morning in the North Warren Presbyterian church, and will go to Bradford for a meeting at four tomorrow afternoon.

The devotional period which opened last night's after-dinner program was conducted by Miss Hulda Angermann, who conducted an impressive and beautiful service. While the lights were lowered, Mrs. Carlin played softly and Miss Angermann showed pictures and told the story of "Christ in Gethsemane". Mrs. C. P. DeLong sang "The Light of the World Is Jesus".

Pa. Crude Industry In Danger

"In the oil industry, however, the real supply is the quantity of proven underground reserves that can be made available without waste under present production methods. To increase this underground supply requires the discovery and development of new productive areas or the installing of more effective means of production. Both these methods require large capital outlays and neither method can be expected to result in an immediate increase in available supplies.

"This, however, should not be permitted to hide the fact that price is most important to the oil industry from the standpoint of increasing supply. Unless this situation is recognized and fully appreciated, increases in price for the purpose of stimulating supply may be hastily judged to be inflationary because sufficient time has not elapsed to provide for the necessary lag between supply and price. x x x

"An increase in price of 25 cents per barrel, over and above the increased costs of labor and materials, can be expected to increase the production of the Bradford field alone 3,000 barrels per day, and that large increases may also be expected from the other districts. The total increase in production of Pennsylvania grade crude oil may be expected to be between 7,000 and 9,000 barrels daily within a year after the establishment of a stable price equivalent to a price of $3 in the years 1932-1940."

Zook said if the price of Bradford crude is restored to its former level, $2.98, the average for the year will be $2.62 and on that basis it was anticipated 3,586 wells would be drilled in the district. At $3.00 per barrel over a twelve-month period, he said, the formula indicated 4,905 wells would be drilled. He added, however, it is doubtful whether sufficient material would be available to drill that number. "In view of these conditions," said Zook, "4,250 wells seems a more likely estimate."

Pointing out that the largest part of oil is produced by small enterprises, Zook said "psychology will play an important part in the extension of secondary recovery projects. Since the rescinding of the price raise on August 23, work on numerous developments has been suspended. The continuance of a period of a steady relation between prices and labor and material costs must be assured if repressuring is to be extended."

Producers also contended their increased price is not inflationary because it is in harmony with general price trend in other basic commodities and because it would not be passed on to the consumer. A price of $2.98 for Bradford crude, which Henderson disallowed, equalled 85.1 percent of the 1927-28-29 level, they said, while the present price of $2.75 per barrel is equivalent to only 78.6 percent.

YOUTH IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH NEAR KIANTONE

Robert Washburg, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Washburg, 21 Park street, North Warren, was painfully injured about one o'clock this morning on the Kiantone road, north of Akeley, when a car which he was driving struck a parked car owned by Raymond B. Anderson, 20, of R. D. 1, Warren.

Washburg suffered a large cut on the forehead, an injury to the left knee and bruises. He was taken to his home after treatment by a North Warren physician.

According to state motor police, Washburg was proceeding south when he struck the parked machine, which was on the North Warren youth's left, facing north. After hitting the Anderson machine, the latter rolled down an embankment, smashing badly both the front and rear. The Washburg machine swerved to the right, went off the road and was completely wrecked.

Damage to the two machines was estimated at approximately $1,000.

Washburg was taken to North Warren by James Barrett, of that place.

HITLER CLAIMS VICTORY AT KIEV UNPARALLELED IN HISTORY

SUCCESSES IN DRIVE ON CENTRAL FRONT REPORTED BY SOVIETS

By the Associated Press

The German high command today announced conclusion of the battle of encirclement east of Kiev, with destruction of five entire Soviet armies and capture of 665,000 prisoners.

But the Russians claimed new successes everywhere else along the front and the British strongly intimated they might rush troops to the defense of the Caucasus.

Adolf Hitler's headquarters, claiming a victory "which is unparalleled in world history," reported seizure or destruction of 3,718 Russian cannon, 885 tanks and great quantities of other war equipment.

"The exploitation of these successes is in full swing," a communique stated.

Informed Germans also said the source of the Volga river in the north, near Seliger Lake, had been in Nazi hands for several days.

A Soviet communique, on the other hand, announced Red army successes in a sustained drive on the central front—north of the Kiev area—and repulse of a strong German attack on Leningrad.

Defenders of the Crimean peninsula, which is the key to full control of the Black Sea, were declared to have cut down thousands of German soldiers seeking to storm the approaches to that stronghold.

While the British reported continued overnight air raids against Cologne and other German cities despite bad weather, the empire appeared to be shaping up a major move to hasten troops from India and the Near East through Iran for the defense of Russia's vital and oil-wealthy Caucasus region.

Observers in London pointed to a number of signs indicating such a British step and stressed that speed was imperative since the Germans are hammering at the Crimea, almost at the door of the Caucasus.

Reports from Russia said the Crimea's defenders were mowing down thousands of Germans at the approaches to that peninsular Soviet republic.

But while the British were talking of more help to Russia, Lieut.-Gen. A. G. McNaughton looked into the future and declared it would be necessary to invade the continent to beat Germany.

He said he did not think that a "proud and well-organized nation" could be broght to her knees "with missiles alone," but he did not predict when a British invasion attempt might be made.

The British meanwhile strengthened their position in Turkey, announcing that a British firm would build dock facilities of considerable military significance at the Turkish port of Alexandretta. Following British consignment of some American-made planes to Turkey, observers regarded this as a further indication that Turkey would not yield to Axis overtures.

Continuing trouble for Germany in occupied countries of Europe was disclosed with announcement in the Brussels press that 20 "communists" hostages of unstated nationality had been executed yesterday, supposedly for theft of explosives which were used to attack trains.

Italy, southern end of the Axis, tightened the national belt with an order for bread rationing effective Oct. 1 because of a short grain crop.

JOINT DEFENSE OF CAUCASUS IS PLAN INDICATED

Signs That Britain Proposes To Send Troops From India and Middle East to Aid Russia Becomes Increasingly Evident

CRIMEA IS POUNDED

London, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Signs that Britain plans to send troops from India and the Middle East to aid Russia in defending the all-important Caucasus became increasingly evident today as the German war machine fought almost at the door of that oil-rich area.

The need for speedy British help was stressed by the German attack on the Crimea, but the British kept the Axis guessing as to what actual forces and material might be sent through the new Iran door into the Caucasus.

Four German divisions and Nazi parachute troops were reported pounding at the Crimea in a furious battle, and informed sources said capture of that finger of Russian land would give the Germans partial command of the Black Sea, making a sea invasion of the Caucasus a possibility.

General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander in India, was reported about to meet Col. T. Novikov, Russian commander in Teheran, the Iranian capital.

Paris, Occupied France, Sept. 27—(AP)—Marcel Deat, newspaper editor and one of the leading advocates of collaboration between Germany and France, said yesterday in a statement for Americans that France, contrary to American belief, wants no help.

Tokyo, Sept. 27—(AP)—Japan observed in subdued fashion today the first anniversary of her adherence to the tripartite pact with Germany and Russia, and a prominent newspaper commentator urged that Germany patch up peace with Russia and turn against Britain if Axis aims for a "new world order" ever are to be realized.

Robbery is Believed to Have Been Motive of Mysterious Assault on Sisters at Media as Unknown Assailant is Sought

WEAPONS ARE FOUND

Media, Pa., Sept. 27—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, elder of two sisters brutally beaten near their home on the outskirts of Media Wednesday night, died early today in Chester Hospital while authorities questioned a suspect arrested five hours earlier.

Mrs. Watson, who was 83, never regained consciousness. Her sister, Miss Belle Geary, 80, who is still in a serious condition at the hospital, late yesterday gave detectives a description of their assailant.

Fred Jack, chief of detectives, said the suspect "has admitted nothing that even remotely connects him with the crime."

Haltingly, Belle Geary, 80, told Detective Chief Fred Jack a "tall young man with dark hair and a pink shirt" attacked her and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, 83, as they returned from a restaurant Wednesday night. She said the man followed them home.

Miss Geary is expected to recover but physicians hold out little hope of her sister surviving a skull fracture. The two women lived alone. Detective Jack suspected robbery was the motive for their attack. He also thought the as-

KNOX SAYS NATION IS NEAR WAR

Secretary of the Navy and Senator Thomas, of Utah, Urge in Separate Declarations, That Neutrality Act Restrictions Be Lifted to Give Free Hand in Safeguarding World Interests

PROTECTION METHODS ARE BEING STUDIED

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox and Senator Thomas (D-Utah) urged in separate declarations today that neutrality act restrictions be lifted to give the United States a free hand in protecting its world interests.

Knox asserted in an article in the "foreign Commerce Weekly" that "the United States stands today on the threshold of World War No. 2."

"I was against the neutrality acts at the time of their passage," he said. "I can only once again urge their repeal."

The magazine for which he wrote is an official publication of the Department of Commerce.

Senator Thomas said he was opposed to "tying the hands of the chief executive in this time of crisis" and proposed that President Roosevelt be given complete discretionary authority to scrap the neutrality legislation.

"We have been abandoning our neutrality step by step," Thomas, a high-ranking member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters.

"There is not much left of the neutrality act now except the prohibitions against the arming of merchant ships, against sending ships into belligerent ports and against Americans traveling on belligerent vessels."

The Utah senator said a simple bill could authorize the president "to fix such regulations regarding neutrality as he deemed necessary in the national interest according to the circumstances of the time."

Secretary Knox followed up his declaration that war was near with an assertion that "it is imperative that we take every necessary measure to preserve our foreign commerce and the lives of our

INQUIRY INTO MOVIES SCORED

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—Senator Nye (R-ND) challenged the administration today to a senate showdown on the question of continuing an Interstate Commerce subcommittee investigation of alleged propaganda in the movies.

Nye, co-author with Senator Clark (D-Mo) of a resolution calling for a formal inquiry, told reporters that statements made by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.)at a tumultuous committee session yesterday indicated the administration would make "an organized attack" on the injury in the senate next week.

McFarland, who objected strenuously to the introduction of testimony dealing with alleged discrimination by the British purchasing commission against employment of persons of Jewish, German or southern Irish descent, previously had asserted that no more than 18 senators, far short

Shot through the heads, apparently from behind, the bodies of Mrs. Cora Tobin, 68, a widow; her son, Kenneth Gorsuch, 45, and her nephew, Marvin Adams, 25, were found yesterday by a neighbor who called at the farm, near Hermiston, Ore., to borrow eggs.

INDEPENDENT UNION AT DUQUESNE APPEALS

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Independent Association of Duquesne Light Company Employes filed exceptions yesterday to the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board certification of a CIO union as exclusive bargaining agency for workmen at the light company's Colfax plant.

Among other things, the independent union claimed certification of the CIO Utility Workers Organizing Committee was contrary to provisions of the state labor relations act because the company's present contract with the independents does not expire until August 14, 1942.

SECOND ARMY IS READY TO STRIKE

By the Associated Press

The harassed and outnumbered Second Army bared its fangs today in the Louisiana war games and waited for an opportunity to strike with its new anti-tank weapons against armored units of the advancing Third Army.

Since the swampy terrain of Louisiana is an obstacle to tank travel, the tank-killers, formed from artillery units throughout the country, were placed like rattlesnakes in ambush along all roads leading into the Second Army's territory.

These anti-tank units are an innovation in the U. S. army. Fast and as maneuverable or more so than tanks, they may prove to be the answer to the problem of defense against heavily armored forces.

Meanwhile, the main body of the Third Army troops, following in the wake of its second armored division, closed steadily in on the defensive Second Army. Between

14 CARGO SHIPS ARE LAUNCHED

Mass Ceremonies at Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Yards Acclaimed by President as "A Telling Blow At Menace to Our Nation," and Emphasizes Intention to Protect American Merchantmen

DATE IS DESIGNATED "LIBERTY FLEET DAY"

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt acclaimed today's launching of 14 cargo ships as "a telling blow at the menace to our nation," and emphasized his intention to protect American merchantmen "from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The chief executive's congratulations on the largest mass launching since World War days were sent in a specially transcribed message to the Atlantic, Pacific and gulf yards where the new vessels slid down the ways at intervals from dawn to dusk.

America's shipbuilders, the president said, "have caught the true spirit with which all this nation must be imbued if Hitler and other aggressors of his ilk are to be prevented from crushing us."

"We Americans as a whole, he continued, "cannot listen to those few Americans who preach the gospel of fear—who say in effect that they are still in favor of freedom of the seas but who would have the United States tie up our vessels in our ports. That attitude is neither truthful or honest.

"We propose that these ships sail the seas as they are intended to. We propose, to the best of our ability, to protect them from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

The day was designated "Liberty Fleet Day" to mark the first launchings of emergency freighters in the Maritime Commission's vast construction program. Three of the "liberty ships"—sometimes called "ugly ducklings" because of their workaday design—were on today's launching schedule.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that the first of the liberty ships, built at Baltimore, was to be called the Patrick Henry, and he recalled that Revolutionary patriot's famous demand: "Give me liberty or give me death."

BASIS FOR PAY GIVEN BRITAIN

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The basis for repayment under the first big lease-lend agreement since the war-aid act was passed last March has been forwarded to the British government, but house members who were told about it said today they were still unaware of its terms.

Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state, told a House appropriations subcommittee considering the new $5,985,000,000 lend-lease proposal yesterday that the "basis of discussions" with Great Britain regarding conditions of repayment for American supplies had reached the point where Britain could be asked how she felt about them.

He also told the subcommittee that several agreements already had been concluded with Latin-American governments. These are believed to be with Paraguay, Haiti, and the Dominican republic. The terms of those agreements al-

BANK ROBBERS ON WAY TO PEN TRY TO ESCAPE

Two Alert Guards Thwart Desperate Attempt at Freedom Made by Convicted Men in Speeding Prison Automobile Near Mercer

ONE USES A LONG KNIFE

Mercer, Sept. 27—(AP)—Two alert guards thwarted a desperate attempt at freedom made by two convicted bank robbers in a speeding prison automobile, en route from federal court in Erie to Western Penitentiary at Pittsburg last night.

The prisoners, Francis X. Spinley, 25, and John Simmons, 25, both of Buffalo, a few hours earlier were sentenced with John Edward Kern, 29, of Pittsburgh to 25-year terms for the $5,311 holdup of the First National bank of Eldred May 14.

William Braun, prison guard who was riding in the back seat with the robbers described their attempted break as follows:

The car was traveling along the Perry highway 20 miles north of Mercer. Although the prisoners were handcuffed together, one of them slipped a long knife from his clothing and swung it on Braun.

Seeing the flash of the knife, Braun jerked his right arm upward to fend off the blow. The blade ripped into his hand. Shouting a warning to Parole Officer John A. McEwen in the front seat, he grabbed the two men.

McEwen jammed on the brake, throwing the men in the rear seat to the floor, Braun landing on top. Drawing his gun, McEwen held the prisoners at bay.

Continuing on to Mercer, the guards left the robbers in the cus-

PA. CRUDE INDUSTRY IN DANGER

Only 52 Per Cent of 1940 Output Can Be Produced Without Loss at Current Quotations, Witnesses Argue Before Office of Price Administration in Hearing Held in Washington

HIGHER RATE NEEDED TO STIMULATE SUPPLY

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—Only 52 per cent of the Pennsylvania grade crude oil industry's 1940 output can be produced without a loss at the current quoted price, producers argued before the office of price administration.

Presenting the industry's case yesterday in support of a petition for cancellation of the emergency price schedule ordered by Price Administrator Leon Henderson on August 22, Attorney Fayette B. Dow of Washington declared:

"If the question is asked why we go on producing with a loss on 48 per cent of the barrels produced, the obvious answer, of course, is that these cost figures include depletion, depreciation and authorization."

This brought from Producer Ralph T. Zook of Bradford, Pa., the remark "we had been going along ignoring depletion, depreciation and authorization. If that is to continue, the Pennsylvania grade industry is no more."

"We are not expected to make an industry," commented Quinn Shaughnessy, price executive in the fuel section of OPA.

"If the price administrator is not expected to remake an industry," replied Dow during a flurry of debate over the remark, "neither is he expected to prevent the remaking of an industry when economic conditions warrant."

Intervening with a question whether the other price ceilings ordered by OPA had not applied to industries that were making a price, Senator Guffey (D-Pa) drew the reply from assistant Price Administrator J. K. Galbraith that "we have conflicting stories on that."

"This industry is not making a profit and that must be considered," stated Guffey, adding the president would be interested in oil as a natural resource as he was in bituminous coal when he approved the coal act.

Shaughnessy's concession that he had made "an unfortunate remark" resulted in the subject being dropped.

Appearing at the hearing prior to the debate, Henderson told the producers "we decidedly will take no action to prevent an adequate supply of Pennsylvania crude from reaching the market."

The producers argued there was a naturally growing demand for Pennsylvania grade crude, the capacity to refine it existed but that a higher price was necessary to stimulate the supply.

They contended price advances disallowed by the OPM last month were not inflationary because they "fulfilled the economic purpose of stimulating supply to meet an increased demand."

"In most industries," Dow pointed out, "new supplies can normally be produced when needed and the effect of an increased price is almost immediate in encouraging greater output.

MINERS IGNORE ORDER OF LEWIS

Hazelton, Sept. 27—(AP)—Anthracite miners striking against increased union dues and assessments concentrated their efforts today on spreading the revolt after reiteration by John L. Lewis that they must return to work before consideration of their demands.

Frank Gozjack, member of a committee of insurgents which conferred with Lewis earlier in the week, wired the United Mine Workers chieftain asking him to set up a provisional government in the Hazelton district seven pending settlement of the dispute.

Martin Brennan, chairman of a union commission sent here to investigate the revolt, said Lewis' answer was "it is essential that the men of District Seven return to work before I reconsider the proposition to set up a temporary government in the district."

The 20,000 hard coal miners idle nearly two weeks in District Seven are demanding ouster of district

Whirl of Events Follows Signing Of Tripartite Pact One Year Ago

By the Associated Press

One year ago today Japan, Germany and Italy became the three musketeers of world totalitarianism, signing a 10-year-one-for-all and all-for-one pledge aimed unmistakably at intimidating and neutralizing the United States.

The Axis was in the ascendant then, Britain seemed to be staggering, Russia was Germany's official friend, and Japan — with vaulting ambitions despite her long and wearisome involvement in China — was inclined to congratulate herself on her shrewdness in lining up with Adolf Hitler.

The Hitler "new order for Europe" was to have its oriental counterpart, with Japan as its master

Today, slightly perplexed after the year's whirl of events, Japan apparently finds herself wondering about that German tie.

At the outset of her first year as a tripartite pact member, Japan's hopes were high. She signed a "peace treaty" with the government of her Chinese puppet, Wang Ching-Wei of Nanking, and sent a new ambassador to Washington.

Britain reacted to the pact by reopening the Burma road, chief supply route for the free China of Chiang Kai-Shek.

Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka later went on a state visit to Berlin and Rome, talking to Hitler and Benito Mussolini about the blueprints for their "new order."

All Votes Cast Tonight in Baby Contest To Be in Monday Count

Which beautiful baby will lead the Honor Roll to be published next Tuesday in connection with The Warren Times-Mirror Favorite Baby Election?

Will it be a boy or girl baby?

Will the holder of the coveted No. 1 position be a local baby or an out-of-town child?

These and scores of other similar questions will be decided by those valuable little pink coupons, being issued by more than 50 progressive merchants who are cooperating with The Times-Mirror in awarding $2,000.00 in cash prizes to the babies of the community under six years of age. A coupon good for 500 votes is given with each 50c cash purchase or payment on account. Every store may issue votes. Ask your favorite merchant to get baby votes if he is not already issuing them, is the advice of the baby election editor.

All votes which have been deposited at Election Headquarters up until tonight at 10 o'clock will be counted Monday and the results will appear in Tuesday's paper. Be sure to deposit your votes for your favorite baby today.

The honor of being chosen the community's favorite baby will be one that will last a lifetime. It will be so great in fact, as to almost eclipse the cash awards which will be established for the winners and the magnificent loving cup to be awarded as an additional prize to the favorite of them all.

The votes are beginning to come

FALL SEASON IS OPENED AT "Y" BOYS DIVISION

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. launched its fall program Friday evening with a boys' "kick-off" party at the association building. There were 138 boys on hand to start the fall season and to enjoy the newly decorated boys' department, to which has been added a radio, a new reading room and several new and interesting games to add to the enjoyment of the members. During the evening the fall schedule of clubs and activities was presented by T. F. Eppley, boys' director, and the physical department program was outlined by Edwin L. Hasler, physical director.

Highlights of the party program included a magic show by Bill Clinger, Bill Hill, Jr., and Tommy Hampson; a humorous lecture by John Erickson under the guise of Dr. Wilson Q. Holmes; movies and group singing.

During the program, leaders of the various boys' clubs for the year were presented. The Sketch Club, which opens Monday night at seven o'clock, will be led by Tut Babbitt; Ping-Pong Club, meeting next Wednesday night at 7:00, led by Merle Seymour; Friendly Indian Club, new this year, meeting next Thursday afternoon at 4:00, led by Clarence Zurcher; Magic Club, Friday night at 7:00, led by Bill Clinger.

Other clubs to be started in the near future include Photography Club, Whittling Club, Stamp Club, Hiking Club, Hobby Club, World Brotherhood Club and Booster Club. The Junior Bible Class suppers will begin on Friday, October 10th. Naborhood clubs and the S. E. B. Club will start early in October. All school clubs are now in session.

Assistance in supervision of the evening program was provided by the Boys' Council, a group of older boys who are training as leaders in the boys' department. On the council this year are Vincent Gray, president; Bill Anderson, secretary, and the following boys: James Boddorf, Anthony Vescio, Bill Vescio, Alan Babcock, Myron King, Klahr McDonald, Stewart Washburn, Don Sontag, Stan Campbell, Bud Leuthold, Gordon Hanks, John Harrington, James Krespan and Dick Pryce.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES FOR WARREN HIKERS

The third season of the Allegheny Hiking Club will begin tomorrow afternoon, with the sixty-third scheduled trip since the group was organized in October, 1939. And regardless of the varied ages of the hikers, it appears from inquiries received by leaders that the three year olds will be ready like their namesakes for the start of a race. However, the journey this week will be an easy one, so that any new hikers who wish to join the party can do so in full expectation of a none too strenuous trip.

The group will meet at General Joseph Warren Park on Poplar street at 2:15 p. m., and leaving promptly at 2:30, drive to Pittsfield, where, under the leadership of F. M. Geer, a hike of about five miles will be had, to include one of the hills in that vicinity. Two or three extra cars will be needed to transport drivers of other cars between the starting point and the end of the trip, and any such members of families who do not intend to join in the hiking are asked to telephone Miss Catherine Reed at 1024-R before the start.

A number of new and interesting trips have been planned for the coming season, to include hikes over several of the trails which have been recently marked with the attractive signs of the Allegheny National Forest. The Buffalo Hiking Club has been invited, and is contemplating a trip with the local club in late October.

Much has been written about Missouri mules, but according to the Census several states reported more mules on farms. Farmers reported 193,565 mules in Missouri; Texas had 537,801; Mississippi, 337,620; Georgia, 316,006; and North Carolina, 299,198.

Warren County Residents Turn Clocks Back One Hour Tonight

Residents of Warren, as well as those in other communities throughout the nation which have been on daylight saving time for the past five months, will get an extra hour of sleep tonight.

In Warren and neighboring communities in the county, Eastern Standard Time will return officially at 12 o'clock midnight tonight, when clocks will be turned back one hour to make up for the hour that was lost when daylight saving time went into effect on April 28.

In most communities where "fast time" has been in effect, clocks will be turned back officially at 2 a. m. Sunday.

Most residents, disregarding the "official" hour of the change, will turn their clocks back before they retire tonight, in order to make sure that they do not arise too early on Sunday.

Church services will return to standard time tomorrow and those who fail to turn their clocks back may find themselves arriving an hour before the scheduled time for the services.

While there has been some talk of extending daylight saving time throughout the winter months in order to conserve electric power, the announcement yesterday by the Federal Power Commission that it would not recommend continuation of fast time beyond today precluded any extension.

Popular use of public libraries is indicated by recent Census Bureau figures. Out of a total of $26 million spent on the libraries of the 94 largest cities in 1938, the taxpayer received over 19 million dollar's worth of services and more than 3 million dollar's worth of new books; whereas less than 2 million dollars was spent for administration.

How Spies Code Their Messages

AP Feature Service

TESTIMONY of a star witness at the Nazi spy trial in Brooklyn revealed a complicated secret code plan which the witness, William G. Sebold, said Nazis used in communications with spies in the United States. Sebold, who testified he had become a counter-espionage agent for the United States after having been hired by the Nazis, explained that the code works like this:*

12-89-3

1-39-23-1-4-6-22-25-3-39

1. The spy receives a harmless looking slip of paper full of numbers. Nothing in this a guy could be arrested for . . . but then—

Cablegram

By all means read
"Island in the Corn."
Gustavus

2. He receives this cable. Note the date, Sept. 22. Add month number (9), day of month (22), add 20 and you get a total of 51.

3. So he obtains the book, turns to page 51, and goes to work, taking the numbers slip from its hiding place. First number is 12. Top line, words 1 and 2 are "by February." Second line, words 8 and 9, third line word 3.

Chapter Five

BY FEBRUARY, Father had eliminated himself from the family circle, because in the month after his first return to Hasselmans at large he had, Doctor Burns declared, restored himself completely. The voice was once more without the slight edge pain had put upon it, the festoon of whisker on his face was again glossy, his step had the old grace. So Father traveled.

The second row of figures applies to letters in the top line of the book page. So, counting off letters from those figures you find that letter No. 1 is B, 39 is O, 23 is M, etc. The letters add up to "BOMBER INFO"—and the entire message reads:

Churches Making Plans to Observe Holy Communion Sunday, Oct. 5

Thousands of churches all over the world, including those of Warren and vicinity, will join on Sunday, October 5, in the simultaneous observance of the Holy Communion, the celebration of the sacrament emphasizing the increasing need of fellowship and Christian unity in a war-torn world.

Churches of many denominations will commemorate the first simple observance in the upper room, where Jesus instructed His disciples on the great task remaining before them, and enjoined them to love one another, even as He had loved them.

The service is sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches in Christ in America, through its department of evangelism, in cooperation with national denominational offices and with affiliated state and local councils.

Union communion services are not contemplated, but each individual church will call its own members together at "a table 25,000 miles long." It is stated that 25 per cent more communicants are expected than attended last year.

World-wide Communion Sunday will again be made the occasion for a nationwide appeal on behalf of the sufferers of war. Many churches will cooperate in the appeal being directed by the committee on foreign relief appeals in the churches, which promotes and coordinates the foreign relief work of denominational committees.

Commenting on the communion, the Federal Council Bulletin states in its September issue:

"The observance of World-wide Communion Sunday may be a factor of unimagined importance in our thought and work during the coming months. The experience of the sacrament requires humility and is conducive to humility. We are concerned with what God has done and continues to do for us, not with what we can do ourselves. In such a setting, the awareness of fellowship with the millions around the world who partake of the same sacrament will be an awareness of fellowship which transcends the world, the community surviving wars and tensions. Church unity and cooperation based thereon will be sound in the parish, the local community, the nation, the world. It will be of God."

ROTARIANS TO HEAR TALK BY JEWISH RABBI

Rotarians, at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday, will hear a talk on "Life in the Union of South Africa," delivered by a man who has spent much of his lifetime in that country.

The guest speaker is to be Dr. Jacob Israel Harris, of Bloenfontein, South Africa, here as rabbi for the Jewish holiday season and a man of very high calibre.

Dr. Harris received his B. A. degree in Semitic languages at the University of Wit Water Strand, South Africa, and his master's degree in applied psychology at the University of South Africa. Coming to this country, he was granted his Ph. D. for work in Semitic languages at Columbia University in New York City.

He has been engaged as lecturer in applied psychology at St. Andrew's University in South Africa, and upon his return to that country will go to Pretoria, capital of the Union of South Africa, as professor of Semitic languages.

Another interesting phase of his activities is his research work at Yeshiva College on the author of the legend of the Golem, Rabbi Low of Prague, who was a philosopher of religion and education.

SUGAR GROVE FAIR NOTES

Many readers will be interested in the following communication, entitled "Post-Fair Notes" and received from one who was closely identified with the very successful community fair held recently at Sugar Grove.

In the opinion of the judges and supervisors in the various departments of the Sugar Grove Fair, the home economics exhibits this year were far superior to those of previous displays. Up-to-date interests in choice of project and detail were evident.

Because the quantity of articles was less than usual, it was possible to provide space for finished articles made for the Red Cross. Judging by the many questions asked, Red Cross workers will have a better understanding of the required work. It is hoped many new helpers may be enlisted in this effort for national defense.

There were many interested friends to view the display set up by the local troop of Girl Scouts. An exhibit was made of regular Scout equipment and a number of badges that may be earned. There were also included many articles for war relief and tallies, the girls maintaining a camp fund on the sale of tallies.

Each year more space must be given to the hobby show. We find many persons in the community at work on their hobby, with a display at fair time in mind. The class has been broken into creative and collective types and, as the department grows, will be more detailed to take care of various entries. Owing to the popularity of photography, we have made special prizes for photo displays. Chandes are being made in next year's book to classify these displays.

Arts and crafts have increased to such an extent that a separate department will be made for them. Woodworking, metal work, leather and novelty jewelry appeared most popular.

The quality of the canned goods and jellies was exceptional. There were 468 displays in that department. There were 128 entries in baked goods. About one-half of the entries in the sewing section were made by girls and one-third of all the prizes in this department were drawn by girls for their superior workmanship. Remodeled garments were particiularly outstanding. Growth in this department is very much in evidence as shown by improvement in workmanship and better application of design principles.

Plans are under way for several additions in the home economics section of next year's fair, among which are demonstrations in fancy work, arts and crafts, and sewing.

TAXES!

A New Item For Your Budget!

The Government's huge expenditures in rounding out the Defense Program will have to be paid for . . . largely by increased income taxes. For some time to come TAXES should be considered a budget expenditure by all Americans earning an income.

We suggest two ways to meet this extra burden:

1. Buy each month Tax Anticipation Notes offered by the U. S. Treasury Department in an amount sufficient to pay 1/12th of your estimated income taxes for the coming year. You can buy these at your bank.

OR

2. Lay aside a similar amount each month in a Special Savings Account at Warren Bank & Trust Company.

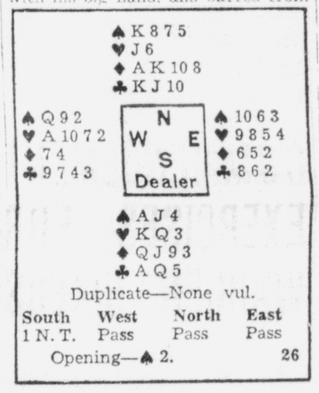
LADY LUCK HANDS RUEFUL PLAYER UNBID SMALL SLAM

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

In tournament bridge the element of luck is eliminated so far as the cards are concerned, because everyone plays the same hands, but as in every other sport, there is always the luck of the play. You may, for instance, get a difficult hand against weak opponents who do not defend it well. Or you may be just downright lucky.

Here is a case that happened at the summer session of the national tournament at Asbury Park. Immediately after bidding one no trump, a player dropped the king of hearts. The rules state that if you expose an honor card, your partner is barred from the bidding on that hand.

This player and his partner were using strong no trumps—so you can imagine how his partner felt, with his big hand, and barred from the bidding. But one no trump was the contract, and, believe it or not, the declarer got the only opening lead that would allow him to make six no trump.



Duplicate—None vul.

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♠ 2. 26

Not realizing that any other opening would have made six no trump impossible, he naturally thought he had a bad score. When the scores came out, he found he had top score on the board, because every other player his way of the table had gotten into a slam contract (a few, in fact, had bid seven) and not one had made it. They were the only North-South pair with a plus score on the board.

Normally, West opened the fourth-best of his only four-card suit, hearts. Declarer could win only 11 tricks, having to lose to the queen of spades and the ace of hearts.

But when South dropped the king of hearts, this particular West player did not like to lead up to it. Furthermore, as North had been barred from the auction, he had no idea whether the North-South cards held a game or not.

He decided on trying to find a suit in his partner's hand, so led a small card away from his only other top card, the queen of spades. This lead handed declarer 12 tricks.

Welcome!

BACK ON STANDARD TIME

Turn the clocks back an hour tonight!

Warren will swing back to Standard Time officially tomorrow morning at two o'clock, ending a period of Daylight Saving that has been in effect since April.

As was stated in Friday's issue, the Federal Power Commission at Washington announced that it would not recommend the continuation, beyond September 28, of daylight saving time in any region of the United States. This was followed by an announcement in Harrisburg that no action would be taken by state officials to prolong fast time, although the issue is one that could be settled in each individual community, such as Warren.

Trend of sentiment during the summer months justifies the prediction that 1942 may see Daylight Time adopted as a nation-wide movement, even including the District of Columbia which has never departed from its Standard Time belt.

So, in this parting paragraph, we remind all to switch the clock back sixty minutes before you go to sleep this evening and sleep an hour later Sunday morning.

"SALUTE TO THE OIL INDUSTRY"

The story of the outstanding job the oil industry in Warren and other oil centers throughout the country is doing in the national defense program is being told to millions of people through newspaper and magazine advertising of a new type.

In an advertisement, "Salute to the Oil Industry," that appeared in Thursday's issue of the Times-Mirror, tribute is paid to oil men and attention is called to an article about the industry by Fulton Lewis, Jr., well known writer, which appears as an advertisement sponsored by Johns-Manville in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

After visiting oil centers all over the country and interviewing leaders of the oil industry, Mr. Lewis titled his article "Hitler Picked Our Weapon." He found that the oil industry is prepared for whatever this country faces in the future-war of defense, or war itself.

A colorful and active life came to a close in the passing early Friday morning of A. A. Riwa, more affectionately known to his host of friends as "Gus." Mr. Riwa's recitals of early events in the history of Warren were vivid and interesting and it is regrettable that they could not be preserved for coming generations.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

FOR WHAT IS YOUR LIFE?

REV. J. E. KIFFER
Free Methodist Church, Warren

Text: James 4:14—For what is your life?

The question is not asked of the illusive, mysterious thing we call life, but rather of life as a program, as a time to act toward responsibilities given us by our Creator.

We would ask, Is your life what you possess? People much concerned about getting. There was a certain man who had so much he had to tear down his barns and build greater. Successful in getting, but God said, "Thou fool." Man has yet to learn he is overbuilt for this world. All earthly things would not give satisfaction or soul rest.

Is life what you know? Paul said, "Though he understood all mysteries and all knowledge, without something else he would be nothing."

Is life what you do? Paul said, "Though he bestow all his goods to feed the poor, and give his body to be burned," without something else it would be worthless.

Your life is your interests. We live in geography, but in a higher moral and spiritual realm. It is not so much the house as the interests that make the home. We need something to attract, to focus and bind together the loose ends of our ambitions and give us a pole star as our ultimate goal.

Many lives, like the pyramid, start on a large dimension and come to naught in a few years. Other lives, like the pyramid upside down, start well, but scattered interests make it ineffective. Life should rather be like a shaft, straight and symmetrical.

God is the only sufficient attraction that will hold our interests successfully and completely under the changing experiences of life. Interests make for influence, concentration and mental peace.

What is your life as to duration of time? It is like a vapor that appeareth for a little time. It is like grass that groweth up and then withers. It is spent as a tale that is told, and we are telling the story. Is it a pleasant story or a tragical one?

A year, a life, what is it?
At best a brief delight,
A sun scarce brightening
Ere sinks in night,
A flower at morning fresh,
At noon decayed,
A swift deep current
Gliding into shade.

What is your life as to purpose? Is it Christ-centered or self-centered? The wise man said, "To live was to fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—On a recent one-nighter Artie Shaw went out to the Empire ballroom at Allentown, Pa. . . . It was a hot night, about 97. . . . There were thousands of rug-cutters on hand. . . . Finally Artie went back behind the bandstand to a large open window to get a bit of fresh air. On the sidewalk next to the window stood a young fellow who said, "You're Shaw, aren't you? How about your autograph?"

Artie gave it to him. . . . "Why aren't you inside?" he wanted to know.

"Frankly," he was told, "I haven't got the buck and a quarter."

Shaw looked at him a moment. He reached his hand into his pocket and drew out the required amount. "Come on in, on me."

"I couldn't do that." The youth was embarrassed.

"Don't worry," said Shaw, "Sixty percent of it comes back to me anyway. Come on in."

And he did.

IT was interesting to see Phil Baker after fifteen years' absence from the night clubs. He came back with Harry Richman to the Riviera, and he forgot some of his lines, though none minded—except Phil. Later he said, "I wasn't nervous. Not a bit. But I forgot half the things I wanted to do."

Fifteen years is a long time. I asked him if it had really been that long since he had indulged in the old trade of making night club customers laugh.

"Yep," he said, "this is the first night club I've worked in since the old Ziegfeld Roof days, when you could get a real nice dinner for an annuity and a half."

In his new duties Phil employs a bit of geography and a note of patriotism. He sings a little song that asks the question, "What are we going to defend?" Then he starts in with Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and names all the 48 states. . . . That's where Phil got a little mixed up. He named Ohio three times and forgot Nevada. . . . You try naming the 48 states, right fast, and see how far you get. . . . When Phil names the last state he pauses, then sings, "That's what we're going to defend." The welcome they gave him must have made him feel very, very good.

IT must be a fine feeling that John O-Steen of Kinston, North Carolina, and Elaine L. Berg, of Grand Forks, North Dakota, have these days. And for it they can thank Kay Kyser.

Some months ago the old professor founded two scholarships, one in music and the other in dramatic arts, at his alma mater, the University of North Carolina. . . . The other day the first winners were announced. Mr. O-Steen gets the scholarship in music. . . . Miss Berg gets the scholarship in dramatic art. . . . All expenses paid. Three guesses who Miss Berg's and Mr. O-Steen's favorite orchestra leader is going to be from now on—and the first two don't count.

Joffre's Stand at Marne Stopped Drive on Paris

MARSHAL JOSEPH JOFFRE, who commanded the French army from the outbreak of the war in 1914 until 1917, was criticized in many quarters after the war for his generalship and tactics. He was called "the imposing edifice behind which other brains connived" and the "man who nearly brought France to ruin."

Joffre, who was honored philatelically in the 1940 stamp above, made no effort to defend himself. He wrote a two-volume book of memoirs but refused to permit publication until his death.

When he died in 1931, the book was released. Joffre critics were silenced in large measure, for it was found that the marshal operated under tremendous handicaps.

The French army in 1914 was still suffering from rigor-mortis caused by the disastrous war of 1870. Staff work was intolerable and the calculations of the war plans division proved poor.

Joffre, who was 62 at the outbreak of the war, is best known for his miraculous stand at the Marne, which stopped the German advance and saved Paris.

FLAG FACTS

The world may see a new, but probably not permanent flag in the standard being created by the axis to include colors of flags of all European nations. These questions will test your knowledge of flags of two hemispheres.

1. What woman is associated with the making of the first American flag, and when is Flag Day in the U. S.?
2. What are the colors of the following flags: Great Britain, Spain, Ecuador, Ethiopia?
3. What South and Central American nations have stars in their flags?
4. Which way do the stripes run in the French tri-color, and what are the three colors?
5. What British possessions have stars in their flags, and what two nations of the middle east have stars?

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—A list of this administration's one-time friends, appointees or otherwise favored persons who have become critical thorns in the administration's side would be longer than your arms.

High up on that list is the genial gentleman from Virginia, Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, who, after a year of comparative quiet while stringing along with the President's foreign policies, has busted loose again with one of the strongest denunciations of the defense production lag that has come from any Democratic quarter.

Although it never was widely known and now is almost forgotten, it was President Roosevelt who opened the door of the United States Senate for the former Virginia governor.

At one time, before the prenomination campaign of 1932, Byrd was Roosevelt's selection for chairman of the national Democratic committee. Byrd would have had the post, too, but John J. Raskob didn't resign as expected. After Roosevelt's first election, however, he was in position to bring Byrd to the Senate—by appointing Virginia Senator Claude A. Swanson as secretary of the navy. Byrd then was appointed to succeed Swanson, and has held the seat ever since.

Opposed Pump-Priming

SENATOR BYRD hardly had taken his seat before his differences with the administration became apparent. As governor, he had balanced the Virginia budget and drastically reorganized the state government, much to the consternation and unhappiness of the bureaucrats.

Pump-priming with government funds wasn't his idea of the way to float the country out of the depression. Expansion of government through the establishment of many new bureaus and agencies wasn't his idea of economy. The new senator said so.

Byrd has been saying it ever since, and in such language that he almost always makes himself heard. This prodding of administration policies continued through the reorganization fights, the court bill fight, various relief expenditures, the NRA, the labor relations bill, and continuation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Almost always, Byrd drove his wedge at the weakest point. It hurt.

Therefore, it must have been some relief to administration leaders when the junior senator from Virginia went all out for the President's foreign policies. It must have lightened the load considerably for the men who carry the hod on Capitol Hill to find one of the Senate's chief foes of spending in the administration camp during the scrap for those vast outlays for national defense.

Quiet Long Enough

THEY should have known that it was too good to last. About a year ago, Senator Byrd threw out a hint when he opened up on the snail's pace with which defense production was getting under way. Then, according to his own statement, he kept quiet just to see if the snarls wouldn't unravel by themselves.

He thinks they haven't. So now, the apple king from Virginia (his apple orchards are among the largest in the country) and newspaper publisher (he has papers at Winchester and Harrisonburg) is at it again. His goal is elimination of waste in the defense effort; an approach to the all-out production which he feels the appropriations warrant; and a one-man defense production head.

You'll probably be hearing a lot from Byrd of Virginia in the months to come.

STRONG SPRINGDALE A. A. TO MEET JACKETS TOMORROW

LEAGUES CLOSE THIS WEEKEND; TWO FORGOTTEN MEN WILL SEE ACTION IN SERIES ENCOUNTERS

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Overshadowed by the proximity of the World Series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, the stormy regular season of the major leagues will drag to an unannounced finish this week-end.

As far as the fans are concerned, the schedule might as well have been defaulted after the Dodgers clinched the National League pennant Thursday, but several odds and ends of interest to baseball people themselves remain to be decided.

Even the Dodgers aren't entirely satisfied. Although they already have won more games than any other Brooklyn club in history, 99, they would like to hit 100.

For this reason the Dodgers are glad to have their two final contests with the last-place Phillies. Manager Leo Durocher said he would let most of his regulars take a couple of turns at bat in each game.

Bob Feller completed his campaigning yesterday with a one-hit performance against his old nemesis, the St. Louis Browns, for his 25th triumph of the year, two short of his 1940 total. The effort, marred somewhat by seven walks, gave Cleveland a 3-2 decision in the second game of a doubleheader after the Browns captured the opener, 6-5, in 10 innings.

It left the Indians with a chance to pull abreast of both Chicago and Detroit, who were thrown into a tie for third when the Tigers trimmed the White Sox, 4-3.

The New York Yankees posted their 100th and 101st victories by whipping the Washington Senators, 4-1 and 1-0, as Spud Chandler and Lefty Marius Russo each turned up for the World Series with three-hit pitching performances.

The Yanks made two double plays in each game to run their total for the season to 190 and break the American League record of 187 set by the Indians in 1928.

In the day's only National League encounter, the Cincinnati Reds nudged out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, with Johnny Vander Meer pitching a steady nine-hit game. The contest drew only 717 fans.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES

Montreal (I) 12, Columbus (AA) 6.

King George of Great Britain has an American-made airplane assigned to him for his personal use.

(This is one in a series on personalities in the World Series.)

By SID FEDER

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Back in 1935, right field and the right field bleachers in Yankee Stadium were hallowed ground.

This was Ruthville. The Babe was through for keeps. He'd hung up that No. 3 which had been plastered all over the place for 15 years. But to the fans, his territory was still as marked as if he'd pitched a tent and was getting his mail there.

That spring a broad-backed rookie with a square chin came over from Newark to the Yanks. They fitted him out with a monkey suit, slapped that same No. 3 on his back and told him to go out and play right field.

It's an old story, the job Twinkletoes George Selkirk had on his hands. The fans greeted him like little Johnny goes for his Saturday night bath. Everything was nice and pleasant—like a hospital.

But Twink lived through it, stuck it out, and at long last the cheers came. He batted .312 that year and followed with .308 and .328 the next two seasons.

Lot of splinters have been picked off the bench since then. The last couple of years, youngsters have come along to outshine Twink and he's been sitting the waltzes out most of the afternoons. But early this month, King Kong Charley Keller, the Maryland beauty, busted an ankle bone sliding into second base.

Manager Joe McCarthy looked up and down the dugout, pointed a finger at Twink, and said, "Sonny, you're it."

All he has to do now is prove he's as good as the walloper who only was robbed of the American League championship for knocking in runs by an injury. Keller may see some series service, but it's a cinch Selkirk will have to be in there for him part of the time."

When he made his trip over from Newark to New York back in '35, Selkirk passed another outfielder on the way back to the Bears. Fred (Dixie) Walker had been with the Yanks for three seasons before that, and while he did a pretty fair job while he was working—he didn't work enough. He'd been hurt each season, and the word went out that here was a brittle ball player.

So the Yanks sent him back, brought him up again in '36 and sold him to Chicago. He landed with Detroit in '38 and labored with the Tigers through half of 1939. Then he was sold to Brooklyn and the Tigers went on to win the American League championship in 1940.

Prexy Larry MacPhail, the great mouthpiece of the Dodgers, refuses to admit Dixie has been one of the leaders in the dash of "Dem Bums" to the National League flag this season. But Prez MacPhail has been known to be wrong before. Everyone else in baseball tosses bouquets at Dixie for his hitting and his fight.

So here they are, the forgotten men—Selkirk and Walker. Neither of 'em will be around much longer, but while they're in there, they play it up to the hilt. They're the kind of fellows the big leaguers point to and say, "There go a couple of ball players' ball players."

BOB MAIN IS ARMY'S GIFT TO RED JACKETS; SPORTSMEN PLAN REFUGES FOR SMALL GAME

Good news to Red Jacket fans was received by this office yesterday afternoon when Bob Main strode in and told us he would be home for ten days on furlough from Mitchel Field, New York, where he is currently stationed in the army air force. This means that Bob will be available for rehearsals and two games, tomorrow's and next Sunday's fracas, and following these two he plans to come home each weekend to play with the local pros. Main will be received by Coaches Reese and Paris as a Christmas gift would be, because the clever end is badly needed on the Jacket club this year, where a couple of good wings would strengthen the outfit quite a bit. Bob is a player who is good both on offense and defense, and whenever a pass comes down the shute Main really hugs it if he gets his hands on the pigskin. So, starting tomorrow, local fans can start looking for the champs to beat their opponents with an air attack, if necessary, and Warnie Check should start getting answers to those long distance calls of his, what with someone on the other end as capable as the former Warren High School star.

The Warren County Council of Sportsmen has laid an extensive program to be undertaken for the fall and winter months in their new year, including the possible purchase of feeding plots for small game, which will be beneficial to all hunters in this section. The body intends to make these plots refuges for the wild animals (small game) where they may go and find food when the snow covers natural resources such as plants, herbs, etc. The areas would not be fenced, cannot be according to game laws, but hunters would be restricted from the land, so that it would be a refuge in every sense of the word. This plan has been successfully carried out in many other counties in other years, and Warren's sportsmen, if they get the land they need, should meet with the same kind of result. Other objectives which the group hopes to attain are their annual projects of feeding deer throughout the county and holding their field day, plans regarding the latter to be discussed soon. The council is ready for an active year, can and will do a lot for the good of hunting and fishing, and this sanctum forwards its co-operation in every way to help their program to be carried out successfully. Good luck to you, sportsmen.

Gridiron gristle . . . With the teams only having to cross the river to play, this year's World Series is going to be run off in cut time . . . And we still say about five games will be all it'll take, granting that the Dodgers are good enough to take one, but our reasons for saying the Yanks will limit them to just one will be included in a column before the big show starts next week . . . The tickets are all gone and there'll hardly be room for popcorn vendors, though that won't break too many hearts . . . Oil City comes to town next week for the battle of the Blues and Whites . . . Always a colorful contest, regardless of the score . . . And the Oilers boast a nifty band, also . . . Which reminds us that our local band takes second prize to none in district showings on the grid, and there's only one desire this agent would like to have realized, as countless fans also would . . . That is that the bands, when there are two at a game, get together and decide who plays when so much music from both may be enjoyed . . . Last week when the Dragon tooters were making a vain effort to play their alma mater in an impressive manner, the Kane band, through no fault of theirs, however, came up with a number that blended in about as well as a broken down jazz band would sound with the New York Symphony Orchestra . . . Oh, well, we're no music critic, so just play sumpin', boys.

DONELLI QUITS AS HEAD COACH AT DUQUESNE U.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—Buff Donelli, who had two major football coaching jobs yesterday, had only one today—coach of the Pittsburgh pro Steelers.

He resigned as head mentor of Duquesne University last night under the edict of Elmer Layden, commissioner of pro football, that no one could handle two such posts at the same time and do justice to both.

Williams Needs Five Hits For .400 Clip

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Ted Williams figures he needs five hits against the Athletics in three games during the week-end to become the first American Leaguer in 18 years to hit .400 or more for a season.

The tall Boston Red Sox outfielder is confident he can get those five all-important bingles but says he's going to play "even if I finish at .360."

Somebody started a rumor Williams might not play in the single game today and the doubleheader Sunday in order to protect his present .401 average but Ted assured "I'm going to be out there taking my cut."

The last American League player to hit over .400 was Harry Heilman of the Detroit Tigers, who wound up with .403 in 1923. Bill Terry of the Giants was the last National Leaguer to turn the trick, getting .401 in 1940.

CHAMPS SEEK 3RD SUCCESSIVE VICTORY OF SEASON TOMORROW; MAIN BACK IN WARREN LINEUP

Well prepared for the third challenge of the championship they hold, the Red Jackets are in good shape to battle the Springdale A. A. here tomorrow afternoon on Russell Field, the kickoff slated for 2:30 o'clock, eastern standard time.

Having acquired the services of Bob Main, stellar end of past teams now in the army air corps and stationed currently at Mitchell Field, New York, the champs have braced themselves in a few of their weaker positions, and the club fans see tomorrow will be one half again as strong as that which was put afield against Homewood in the opening game this year.

Before Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris have completely shuffled the candidates, this year's crew should present just as dogged a defense and strong offensive power as any other Jacket combinations of the past.

With Joe Leson back in a red and gold uniform, the tackles have been bolstered to some extent and if Main is placed on the same side of the line with Joe, Warren will have a really capable forward wall both in their own ground gaining efforts and those of defending their goal line.

It is expected that most of the players in last week's starting lineup will be in the first aggregation to start off against the visitors tomorrow and if so, Rosequist, Amann, Guichard, Jackson, Van Cise, Barnes, and either Harold Sedon or Main will be in the forward wall, while the backfield should see no changes and therefore will start with Warnie Check, Harold Brown, Joe Bizzaro and Ernie Sedon.

Frank Siriianni will probably be in the starting lineup somewhere if he can play, but his working schedule is such that the former high school star cannot definitely tell whether or not he'll be able to dress for tomorrow's fracas.

The Springdale club, with fifteen veterans of last year's team which battled the locals, in their lineup for this campaign know what to expect from the Jackets and may have a surprise cooked up and ready to spring following the starting kickoff.

Being no kind of club to take too lightly anyone, the invaders have a stalwart defense, boasting a strong line, and fast running backs in J. Howells, Lafferty, Homanic and Lelis which gives them offensive power.

Unity makes the club hard to beat, though it's hard to pick out any individual stars, and their cooperative system has brought Springdale satisfying results in the sandlot grid conferences down around Pittsburgh year after year.

The Red Jacket organization asks fans to take advantage of the new parking system, which settles the problem of making an exit from the field, eliminating many traffic jams. It is also reminding fans that the soft drinks stand is sponsored by the club and that proceeds from the stand are divided with the organization getting half of the intake.

A crowd of around 1500 fans is expected to witness tomorrow's encounter as the local semi-pro champions go out in quest of their third victory of the year in as many starts, and make an effort to stretch their new string of wins to four.

State College Teams Open; Tomasic Stars

Philadelphia, Sept. 27—(AP)—Temple's Andy Tomasic is going places this season. If he keeps up the good work he showed last night as he led the Owls to a 31 to 9 victory over Kansas, he will have a good chance to become All-America.

The triple threat from near Allentown scored three of the five Temple touchdowns and was virtually unstoppable. He passed accurately, ran hard and punted well. His one poor kick resulted in a safety for the Jayhawks in the third period. Otherwise it was the same Tomasic who was named on the Associated Press All-Pennsylvania 1940 aggregation.

Duquesne, Moravian and St. Vincent also turned in victories last night, the second in a row for each eleven.

INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS ENDS WITH FINE TALK

The annual institute for teachers in the schools of Warren and Forest counties and Warren borough came to a close last evening with a very interesting address by Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, of Teachers College, Columbia University, on the subject of "To Think of the Light."

Last evening's program, with Superintendent John G. Rossman presiding, opened with a fine twenty-minute concert by the Warren High School a cappella choir under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler.

At yesterday afternoon's session, at which W. J. Summerville, Warren county assistant superintendent of schools, presided, the speakers were Dr. Allan Stockdale, of New York, who talked on "Education in Defended America," and Dr. Edgar G. Doudna, of Madison, Wis., whose subject was "Demagogs and Pedagogs."

Music at the afternoon session was led by Byron Swanson, of the Youngsville school.

LIGHT RAINFALL DURING MONTH IS NOT SERIOUS

Despite the fact that streams and wells in Warren county are as low as they ever have been at this time of the year, no water supply difficulties are anticipated here and no serious farm damage has been reported.

The unusually light rainfall for September has not seriously affected any crops, it was stated today by O. C. Tritt, Warren county agent.

"New seedings ordinarily would be affected most by the lack of rain, and even these are in fairly good shape," Tritt said.

He pointed out that the heavy dews which prevail in this section at this time of the year help to keep moisture in the ground, which does not dry out as fast now as in mid-summer.

Commenting on the low streams, the county agent pointed out that after most unusually dry summers, September rains have helped to keep the stream levels up. This year, however, September has been very dry, with no rain of any consequence since early in the month.

Throughout the state the absence of rain, general in the east this month, has affected smaller streams most, according to officials in the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service.

"Unless we have absolutely no rainfall at all for several weeks, though, I don't see anything particularly alarming in the situation now," said George Weber, of the flood control staff.

Those areas which depend on small streams for their water supply and because of the drought have used much of that in storage may be faced with a temporarily serious problem, he said.

Many local authorities in the state have urged the public to conserve water as much as possible in the event of a dire shortage later.

TIES BROKEN

At the office of the county commissioners yesterday, drawings were held to break ties which resulted from the September 9th primary. Altogether there were 33 ties, including 26 on the Democratic ticket and seven on the Republican slate. Withdrawals reduced the number of drawings held yesterday to 24. Candidates nominated at the primary have until October 10 to withdraw.

SUPPLIES SCRIPTURE FOR WAR PRISONERS
The American Bible Society is the principal source of supply of scriptures for war prisoners in German camps, and other places in Europe. It has distributed Bibles, Testaments and Gospels in English, French, Italian, Dutch, Polish, Russian, Czech, Hebrew, Yiddish and Finnish. The Netherlands Bible Society is cut off from practically all the continent except Portugal and its capacity to support its world-wide work is being reduced; the French Society is also cut off from its large constituency in Southern France. The American Bible Society, through its War Emergency Fund, is endeavoring to save the work of these Bible societies during this crisis.

From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. . . .He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IS PARTY OCCASION

Youngsville, Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Henning, of Youngsville, who were united in marriage fifty years ago on Sept. 23rd, at Frewsburg, N. Y., are this week celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

The main celebration was held at the Forge club house, where the fifty-four guests present included their twelve children, twenty grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

A six o'clock dinner was enjoyed. Tables were decorated with gold and white tapers and golden flowers. At the table at which the bride and groom of fifty years were seated the center piece was a three-tiered wedding cake with a miniature bridal couple on the top under a golden wedding bell.

Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Henning were presented with a purse of money.

Out of town guests were present from Clearfield, Warren, Oil City, Seneca, Coraopolis and Busti, N. Y.

BRIEFS

The American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary of Youngsville met this week for a luncheon with Mrs. Chester Shattuck, of Warren, while the local Woman's Relief Corps held their monthly Lincoln dinner meeting this week with Mrs. Ed Gustafson.

The Red Circle will meet Wednesday, Oct. 1, with Miss Ruba Babcock.

Marguerite Lucille Matteo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Matteo, was given a pleasant surprise on her recent birthday when six candles on the birthday cake told her age. A dozen little friends helped celebrate the occasion and she received lovely gifts.

UNEMPLOYABLES ARE NOW CHIEF RELIEF CLIENTS

The problem of relief in Pennsylvania has shifted gradually from one of unemployment to caring for those physically unable to work, according to a report from the state department of assistance today.

Of the 523,256 persons receiving some form of financial aid during August, the department said, 194,479 were classed as getting "general assistance." The balance were in the categories of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, or blind pensions, coming under the sweeping description of "special assistance."

The general assistance drop has paralleled the defense boom as jobs became more abundant. In August, 1939, there were 831,506 dependent on the direct relief rolls for sustenance. By August, 1940, the number had been nearly halved, to 478,375. In July, 1941, the number was 210,583, which dropped to 194,479 in August, 1941.

During the same period, old age assistance rose from 81,029 persons in August, 1939, to 103,109 in August this year. Aid to dependent children climbed from 97,831 to 211,855, and blind pensions went from 12,445 to 13,813.

we would not try to tell you that borrowing money to pay off old bills would put you out of debt, but there are several advantages in doing this:

1. It will free you from worry and possible loss of credit.
2. Making one easy monthly payment is considerably more convenient than trying to scatter your pay over several directions at once.
3. By having one easy payment to make each month you will have most of your salary left to pay current expenses and save.
4. The reasonable interest rate would be far less expensive to you than the worry and nerve-strain caused by the task of trying to keep all creditors satisfied at once.

Attack on Two Elderly Women Is Fatal to One

sailant was the same man who killed Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, 68, here a year ago.

Jack said he believed robbery was the motive for the attack and that the assailant was the same man who killed Mrs. Gibson, whose body was found stuffed under a porch steps.

Miss Geary, able to speak rationally for the first time since she was struck down from behind, told Jack yesterday that the young man came to their table at the restaurant and offered them a piece of candy.

"He followed us when we left and we walked about three blocks and then sat down on some steps to rest," she recalled. "He was back of us but walked on past. We started on home and just before we reached the door, he stopped us and then beat us."

Police found at the scene a blood-stained stone and a stick of wood which they said apparently had been used by the assailant.

The Germans said that beside raids on Britain they attacked Moscow and Tula.

The British acknowledged some damage and a small number of casualties at one place in East Anglia after a Nazi raid. A hostile plane was detected over London but no bombs fell on the city.

In the Far East, Japan quietly observed the first anniversary of the signing of the tripartite agreement with her Rome and Berlin partners.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, ruled such action did not constitute grounds for dismissal under the teacher tenure act and ordered his reinstatement.

Gillies took an appeal to the high court after Judge Samuel H. Gardner, of Allegheny county, overruled Haas.

Also attracting much interest was the case of Mayor Clifford H. Peoples, of Chester, removed from office by Judge Samuel E. Shull, specially presiding in Delaware county court.

With four Chester councilmen, Peoples was convicted of malfeasance in connection with the sale of the Chester Water Works Company to the Chester municipal authority.

The appeal automatically continued Peoples in office until the supreme court makes its decision.

The first week's calendar lists appeals from Armstrong, Clarion, Erie, Fayette, Forest, Jefferson, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Westmoreland and Allegheny counties.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 27—(AP)—Wheat prices had a downward trend today due to profit taking and selling stimulated partly by weakness of cotton. Government figures reiterating the fact that there is a huge domestic wheat surplus with no apparent market outside the United States in the near future had a depressing effect.

Opening ⅛-½ lower, December $1.21½-3/8, May $1.25¾-5/8, wheat later held near this range. Corn started unchanged, December 81½, May 87⅛.

Whirl of Events Follows Signing of Tripartite Pact One Year Ago

(From Page One)

On the way home, he stopped in Moscow and signed on Easter Sunday a 10-year neutrality pact with Soviet Russia.

Then came the startling development that tangled the threads of Japanese diplomacy: Germany attacked Russia.

Article 5 of the three-power pact specifically stated the treaty did not apply in any way to relations with Russia. So Japan remained neutral, but she lost little time in getting rid of Foreign Minister Matsuoka.

Mindful of her own "new order," Japan moved into all French Indo-China with ostensible French consent and edged toward Thailand, Singapore and the Indies.

The United States, the British empire and the Dutch East Indies promptly froze Japanese assets.

The United States started sending aid to Russia and Russia flatly told Japan that any interference with those shipments would be an unfriendly act.

At this juncture, the Japanese government began talking about patching things up with the United States, which had the full backing of Britain in the delicate maneuvering. United States and Japanese talks were continuing but there have been no tangible results.

Over 100 Served at the 16th Annual Banquet Of Three Presbyterian Missionary Societies

More than 100 persons were served at the 16th annual missionary banquet held last evening in the First Presbyterian church, arranged by the Second, Arbutus and Lotta Dunham auxiliaries.

This was the first event of its kind in the new church dining room, which was most beautifully decorated by the committee. Silver candelabra held yellow candles and program-favors were in green and yellow with a spray of arbutus for decoration. Mrs. W. J. Phillips headed the committees as general chairman and Mrs. William Walsh was the caterer. In charge of the dining room was Mrs. John R. McLaughlin.

The invocation was given by Dr. Harold C. Warren, pastor, and delightful dinner music was provided by Mrs. Chris Pepke, Mrs. John Benze, W. A. Greaves and Mrs. George Cowden.

An announcement was made by Mrs. W. R. Carlin of the spiritual life program, and Mrs. J. H. McBride presented Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank, of North Warren, president of the Presbyterial, who presided for the remainder of the program.

Mrs. Cruickshank introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. W. Plumer Mills, missionary on furlough, before the group adjourned to the Sunday school room to hear the visitor tell most interestingly of her work during 29 years of service in Nanking, China. Although she has been sent home on furlough because of war conditions, her husband remains at his post in that field.

One statement of particular interest was Mrs. Mills' assertion that "while we in America have much to give China, China, likewise, has much to give us". Another thought which impressed her audience was her mention of the wonderful Christian faith of the young Chinese girls.

Mrs. Mills, being entertained at the home of Miss Mabel Siggins, Liberty street, will speak tomorrow morning in the North Warren Presbyterian church, and will go to Bradford for a meeting at four tomorrow afternoon.

The devotional period which opened last night's after-dinner program was conducted by Miss Hulda Angermann, who conducted an impressive and beautiful service. While the lights were lowered, Mrs. Carlin played softly and Miss Angermann showed pictures and told the story of "Christ in Gethsemane". Mrs. C. P. DeLong sang "The Light of the World Is Jesus".

Another feature of last night's meeting was the reading of a report of the recent Meadville convention, given by the delegate, Noble Grand Martha Sanden.

Plans were completed for a public card party to be held next Friday evening, October 3, at eight o'clock, preceded by lodge session at 7:30 and the regular tureen supper at six o'clock. Members were asked to bring gifts to that meeting for a "sunshine" basket to be presented to a member who is ill.

Donelli Quits as Head Coach at Duquesne U.

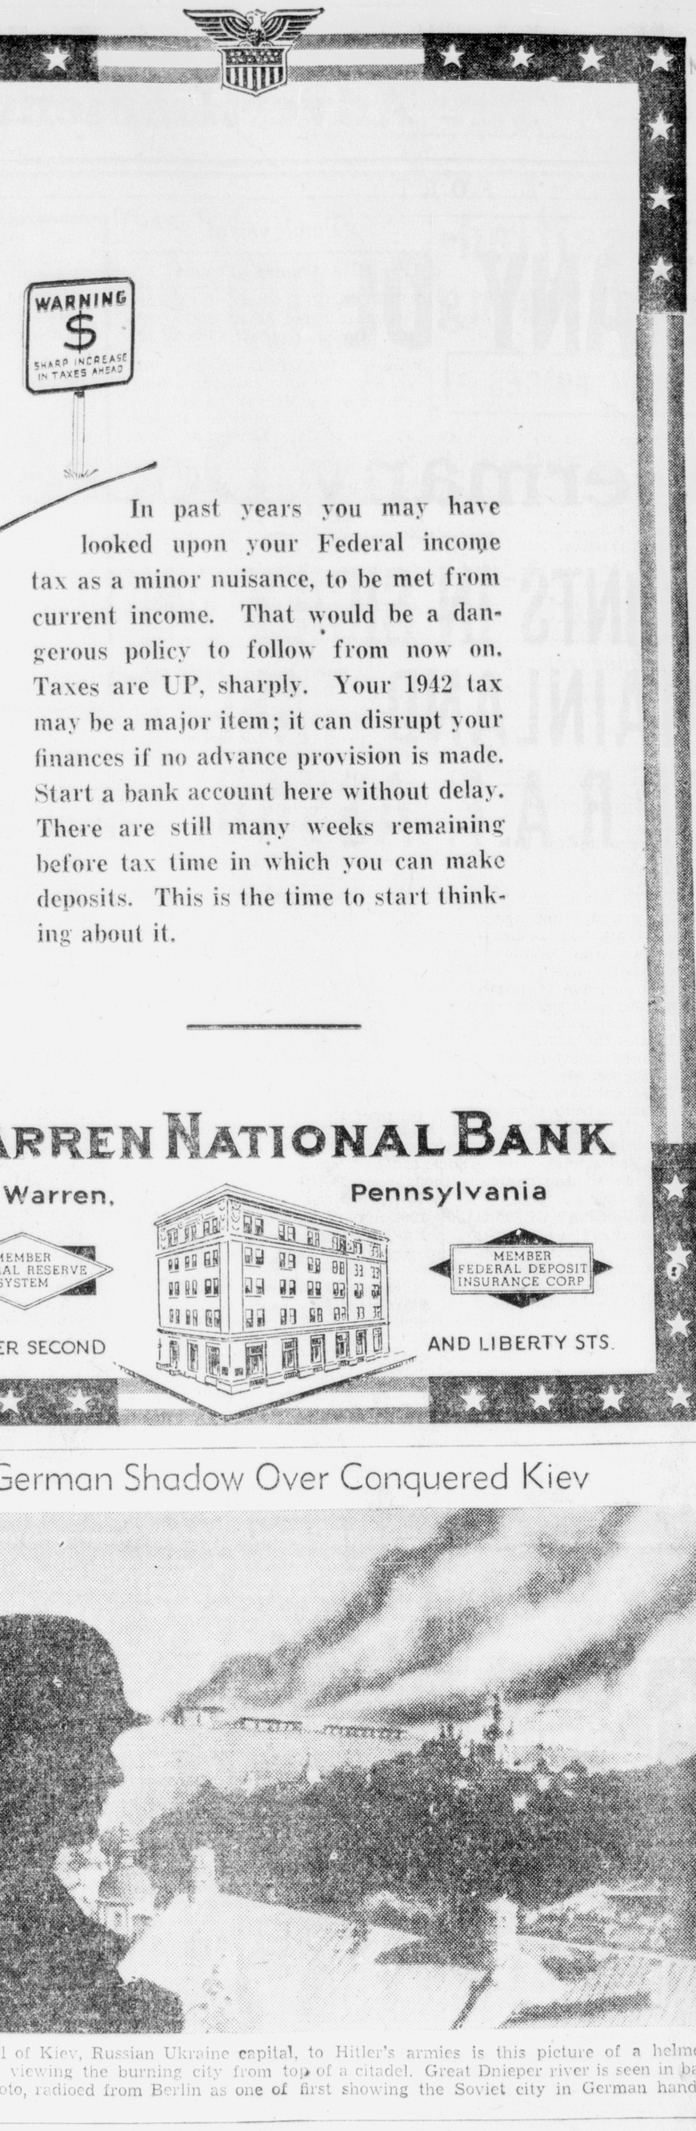
That was 24 hours after Donelli had been appointed the Steelers' coach as successor to Bert Bell, who will henceforth devote his time to business interests of the club.

In issuing his ruling, Layden paid tribute to Donelli as an "excellent coach" and recalled that he was "a fine player for me at Duquesne." Layden coached the Dukes before taking a similar job at Notre Dame.



In past years you may have looked upon your Federal income tax as a minor nuisance, to be met from current income. That would be a dangerous policy to follow from now on. Taxes are UP, sharply. Your 1942 tax may be a major item; it can disrupt your finances if no advance provision is made. Start a bank account here without delay. There are still many weeks remaining before tax time in which you can make deposits. This is the time to start thinking about it.

Pa. Crude Industry In Danger

"In the oil industry, however, the real supply is the quantity of proven underground reserves that can be made available without waste under present production methods. To increase this underground supply requires the discovery and development of new productive areas or the installing of more effective means of production. Both these methods require large capital outlays and neither method can be expected to result in an immediate increase in available supplies.

"This, however, should not be permitted to hide the fact that price is most important to the oil industry from the standpoint of increasing supply. Unless this situation is recognized and fully appreciated, increases in price for the purpose of stimulating supply may be hastily judged to be inflationary because sufficient time has not elapsed to provide for the necessary lag between supply and price. x x x

"An increase in price of 25 cents per barrel, over and above the increased costs of labor and materials, can be expected to increase the production of the Bradford field alone 3,000 barrels per day, and that large increases may also be expected from the other districts. The total increase in production of Pennsylvania grade crude oil may be expected to be between 7,000 and 9,000 barrels daily within a year after the establishment of a stable price equivalent to a price of $3 in the years 1932-1940."

Zook said if the price of Bradford crude is restored to its former level, $2.98, the average for the year will be $2.62 and on that basis it was anticipated 3,586 wells would be drilled in the district. At $3.00 per barrel over a twelve-month period, he said, the formula indicated 4,905 wells would be drilled. He added, however, it is doubtful whether sufficient material would be available to drill that number. "In view of these conditions," said Zook, "4,250 wells seems a more likely estimate."

Pointing out that the largest part of oil is produced by small enterprises, Zook said "psychology will play an important part in the extension of secondary recovery projects. Since the rescinding of the price raise on August 23, work on numerous developments has been suspended. The continuance of a period of a steady relation between prices and labor and material costs must be assured if repressuring is to be extended."

Producers also contended their increased price is not inflationary because it is in harmony with general price trend in other basic commodities and because it would not be passed on to the consumer. A price of $2.98 for Bradford crude, which Henderson disallowed, equalled 85.1 percent of the 1927-28-29 level, they said, while the present price of $2.75 per barrel is equivalent to only 78.6 percent.

YOUTH IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH NEAR KIANTONE

Robert Washburg, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Washburg, 21 Park street, North Warren, was painfully injured about one o'clock this morning on the Kiantone road, north of Akeley, when a car which he was driving struck a parked car owned by Raymond B. Anderson, 20, of R. D. 1, Warren.

Washburg suffered a large cut on the forehead, an injury to the left knee and bruises. He was taken to his home after treatment by a North Warren physician.

According to state motor police, Washburg was proceeding south when he struck the parked machine, which was on the North Warren youth's left, facing north. After hitting the Anderson machine, the latter rolled down an embankment, smashing badly both the front and rear. The Washburg machine swerved to the right, went off the road and was completely wrecked.

Damage to the two machines was estimated at approximately $1,000.

Washburg was taken to North Warren by James Barrett, of that place.
